Attorney General Alan Wilson Responds to Today's EPA Proposed Regulation

(COLUMBIA, S.C.) South Carolina Attorney General Alan Wilson released the following statement in response to today's Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) proposal:

"We are currently reviewing today's announcement of this new 645 page federal regulation. I am deeply concerned it will carry a tremendous cost to our state, our economy, and our families through significantly higher energy bills. We need more reliable, affordable energy options, not less reliable and more costly ones."
