Silent Witness Ceremony Honored 2013 Victims of Fatal Domestic Violence

Ceremony Held During First Week Of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month

(Columbia, S.C.) Attorney General Alan Wilson led participants through the annual Silent Witness Domestic Violence ceremony that was held today on the south steps of the State House in Columbia.

The ceremony marked the first week of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

During the solemn ceremony, Attorney General Wilson called the names of 38 women and eight men from across the state who lost their lives as the result of domestic violence in the previous year.

South Carolina currently ranks second in the nation for women killed by men.

Victims' family members, friends, or volunteers carried a life-sized silhouette representing the victim to the State House steps as a bell was rung for each victim. An additional 47th silhouette represented the potential unknown victims.

"It is important that we pause and remember each life that was lost to domestic violence in the past year," said Wilson.

"This ceremony also encourages people to talk about the problem," Wilson continued. "That is a key step in ending the cycle of violence. It is especially important that we have an open and honest dialogue with our children about domestic violence."

Domestic violence survivors, officials and victims' advocates made special remarks to highlight the problem of violence against women.

A statistical breakdown for each county is available at <http://www.scag.gov/criminal-domestic-violence-in-south-carolina>.

Domestic violence affects us all.

Domestic violence cuts across gender, race, and ethnicity. People in every socioeconomic status experience this type of violence. Domestic violence victims are all around us: in our neighborhoods, workplaces, and our places of worship.

Therefore, let us have a moment of silence to remember those victims of whom we are unaware.
