Dear Mr. Ravenel:

Thank you for your recent letter of February 21, 1975, which Mr. McLeod has referred to me for reply. I sincerely appreciate your comments.

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 does expire this year; however, we are still subject to its provisions for this year and must continue submitting proposed voting changes to the Justice Department. The House of Representatives is presently holding hearings in Washington as to the advisability of continuing the provisions of this act. We will keep you advised as to the outcome.

Very truly yours,

Treva G. Ashworth
Assistant Attorney General
