

2020 Annual Report

OFFICE OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA ATTORNEY GENERAL

ALAN WILSON
ATTORNEY GENERAL

Since its inception in 2012, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force has expanded its size and impact to respond to the evolving threat of human trafficking in our communities. The Task Force is currently composed of 11 mandated member agencies, over 450 individual members, 12 subcommittees, and nine regional task forces. The individuals and organizations that compose the State Task Force work in partnership with diverse community partners to tailor a multi-sector approach that is responsive to the complexities of the crime.

We know that human traffickers exploit their victims in communities across South Carolina, notably targeting the most vulnerable among us. Data reveal evidence of both sex and labor trafficking in our state, with victims representing all ages, genders, races, and socioeconomic backgrounds. The COVID-19 pandemic has only magnified pre-existing vulnerabilities, while also complicating the ability of victims and survivors to receive needed support services.

In 2021, the State Task Force will continue to expand its initiatives. South Carolina, as well as our regional and national partners, will increase efforts to combat labor trafficking. We will also create a knowledge repository to house virtual resources and sector-specific trainings. Furthermore, with the launch of the Advisory Council, the Task Force will leverage the experience of subject-matter experts to create innovative anti-trafficking strategies across sectors and industries.

I thank members of the State Task Force for their unwavering dedication to anti-human trafficking work amidst the challenges presented throughout 2020. Your efforts to prevent the crime, respond to victims' needs, and prosecute cases are admirable and deeply needed during this time.

We must continue to expand and strengthen our efforts in 2021 to prevent human trafficking, support victims/survivors, and hold traffickers accountable for perpetrating this insidious crime.

Attorney General Alan Wilson
Chair,
South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force

I. Structure of the Task Force

The 2012 human trafficking law, S.C. Code Ann. 16-3-2050(B)(1), states that the Attorney General will chair a task force to address the crime of human trafficking in South Carolina. Task Force efforts are in collaboration with federal, state, and local agencies. A major endeavor noted in the law was the development of a State Plan to Address Human Trafficking. The Task Force disseminated the State Plan to Address Human Trafficking in June of 2014. The law dictates that the Task Force shall coordinate the implementation of the State Plan. Furthermore, the Task Force will submit annual reports, inclusive of findings and recommendations, to the Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate. The Task Force shall also consider completing the following collectively or via one or more of its constituent agencies:

- Collect and share trafficking data among government agencies while respecting the privacy of victims of trafficking in persons;
- Coordinate inter-agency information sharing for the purposes of identifying criminals engaged in trafficking in persons;
- Establish policies to position state government to work with nongovernmental organizations and other elements of civil society to prevent trafficking and provide assistance to United States citizens and foreign national victims;
- Review the existing services and facilities to meet trafficking victims' needs and recommend a system to coordinate services;
- Evaluate the various approaches used by state and local governments to increase public awareness of trafficking in persons;
- Collect and publish data on trafficking, posting the information on the Attorney General's website;
- Design and implement public awareness campaigns to inform potential targets of the risks of victimization;
- Creation and dissemination of materials to increase the public's awareness of the extent of trafficking in persons, both US citizens and foreign nationals, within the United States.

II. 2014 South Carolina State Plan to Address Human Trafficking

Released in June of 2014, the South Carolina State Plan to Address Human Trafficking is the framework from which the State Task Force establishes its goals. It should be noted that while the State Plan reflects the most relevant issues during the time in which the document was drafted, some findings may currently be less germane than others in relation to ongoing efforts. The focus areas that comprise the framework include the following:

DETERMINING THE MAGNITUDE OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

PROTECTING, SUPPORTING, AND SERVING VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.
- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.
- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.
- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.
- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.
- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

INVESTIGATING AND PROSECUTING HUMAN TRAFFICKERS

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Two: The lack of information sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

PREVENTING HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.

- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

OTHER AREAS FOR CONSIDERATION AND STUDY

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.
- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.
- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.
- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution

III. 2020 Task Force Recommendations & Updates

DETERMINING THE MAGNITUDE OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2019, the Data Management and Research Subcommittee continued efforts on multiple projects that will benefit efforts underway in our state. There will be an increased effort in 2020 to launch the first human trafficking data collection system in South Carolina. The data collection system will align with the Department of Health & Human Services' Office on Trafficking in Persons data project and be interoperable to best position State Task Force members to both contribute toward and receive statistics. The information will be shared with local, state, and federal stakeholders. The collection of such data will help shape law enforcement training opportunities and the development of support services in our state.

UPDATE

The Data Management and Research Subcommittee continued its efforts in 2020 despite challenges faced by stakeholders as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. It is critical that the State Task Force is better positioned to receive timely data pertaining to both sex and labor trafficking in South Carolina. This will be achieved via a more sophisticated system for both collecting and analyzing data. To coordinate efforts to inform such a system, the Data Management and Research Subcommittee contacted both legislatively mandated and non-mandated member state agencies to begin synchronizing data elements. The goal is to forge a comprehensive, coordinated statewide effort that can be translated into a technological platform that provides members a means of inputting data while ultimately limiting any information that might be detrimental to victims/survivors. The goal is to remain mindful of concerns for victim/survivor wellbeing in a law enforcement investigation, child welfare case, care from a medical provider, or other direct service provision while also gathering the data needed to better inform the efforts of these very sectors.

PROTECTING, SUPPORTING, AND SERVING VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.

RECOMMENDATION

Training is a critical element in elevating the response to human trafficking in South Carolina. The State Task Force will continue efforts to provide comprehensive training to first responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocates through local, state, and national partnerships. It is important that ongoing efforts to inform the community continue to ensure that multi-sector professionals are able to identify and safely respond to human trafficking in their communities. This will ensure that law enforcement is notified, victims' needs are more rapidly addressed, and traffickers are prosecuted in South Carolina courts.

UPDATE

In 2020, the State Task Force faced numerous unexpected hurdles associated with multi-sector training plans. The pandemic forced many industries to move training online to prevent the spread of COVID-19. The Task Force adapted to the need for a new means of training via various online platforms. Members offered law enforcement training, healthcare and community awareness presentations, and other such efforts. The Attorney General's Office also facilitated the Victim Service Provider Certification for Human Trafficking Professionals. During State Task Force meetings, members were provided with national expert presentations regarding the impact of COVID-19 and insight into the dynamics of labor trafficking across industries. The latter informed plans to launch future initiatives to combat the crime in South Carolina.

- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.

RECOMMENDATION

Throughout 2020, the State Task Force will actively seek opportunities for members to receive much-needed funding to support their efforts in implementing prevention education, offering professional training opportunities, and developing new support services across the state.

UPDATE

There has been little success in securing additional funding for current providers to expand services or for additional services to be developed in South Carolina. The State Task Force continues to advocate for additional funding to position programs to meet the needs of victims and survivors. This is especially true in light of diminishing federal grant monies. The loss of these funds effectively weakens the efforts of victim service providers across the state by forcing budget cuts that negatively impact existing services.

- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.

RECOMMENDATION

The lack of safe shelter space for victims and survivors of human trafficking continues to be an issue in South Carolina and across the nation. The State Task Force will continue efforts to support the development of shelter spaces that meet the unique needs of human trafficking victims and survivors. Furthermore, the Task Force will work diligently to ensure that these programs provide victim-centered, trauma-informed services that align with best and emerging practices in the field. The latter will be achieved through a formal vetting and certification process of direct service providers. A resource guide of those providing quality services will then be shared with judges, law enforcement, and other providers and partners at the regional and national levels.

UPDATE

South Carolina continues to suffer from a shortage of short and long-term specialized services, including shelters, residential placements, and community-based programs. This lack of shelters impacts victims of sex and labor trafficking across genders, ages, races, and ethnicities.

South Carolina is in dire need of programs that can support varying levels of need. Throughout 2020, this deficiency in services has been discussed often with stakeholders statewide and with those addressing this issue in other states. The Task Force continues to advocate for additional services that are trauma-informed, victim-centered, and utilize best and emerging practices in the field. As the State Task Force continues to provide specialized training for professionals working with victims and survivors of human trafficking, we are also finalizing the statewide requirements for both residential and community-based programs to ensure the continued safety of those who seek services. Until the standards are finalized and more providers are identified, the resource directory will continue to be a work in progress. We hope to launch a directory in 2021 on the State Task Force website that will be a living document updated as more specialized and supplemental providers are identified and certified.

- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.

RECOMMENDATION

There is an ongoing need to continue to educate direct service providers regarding immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking. In early 2020, the State Task Force will develop a brochure (offered in multiple languages) that details information to aid providers in supporting this population. The brochure will be posted on the Task Force website so that partners may reference and/or download the resource as needed.

UPDATE

Unfortunately, the brochure for non-citizen victims has not been completed. The Task Force did develop and upload resource materials in Spanish and English to the new online resource library. In early 2021, we hope to work with the newly restructured Legal Innovations Subcommittee and other Task Force members in effectively developing such a brochure. We will house the document online so that community members will have access and be able to download it for use in the field. We hope to also develop other items for dissemination to the public to aid in bringing awareness for non-citizen victims of human trafficking.

- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.

RECOMMENDATION

The Legal Innovations Subcommittee will continue its partnerships with stakeholders invested in this matter. Efforts will be made to include relevant information in trainings, during special events, and through other effective avenues.

UPDATE

In 2020, the State Task Force decided to restructure some of its subcommittees to align with the Statewide Strategic Response Model. The Legal Innovations Subcommittee is one of those identified as needing to align with the new response. Task Force leadership has been in discussions with numerous legal professionals as well as service providers to best determine next steps. We plan for the restructured subcommittee to be fully formed in early 2021 and align with the larger strategic plan statewide.

- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

RECOMMENDATION

After much work in 2019, this is an area that will continue to be further developed in 2020. More Memorandums of Understanding will be drafted and specialized programs vetted to ensure the Task Force endorses support services that are grounded in safe, quality practices. The Task Force will develop a list of service providers that meet specific criteria and post it on the website for reference by stakeholders in South Carolina, the Southeast, and across the nation. This information will be shared directly with law enforcement and members of the bar.

UPDATE

Beyond meeting a legislative mandate to set standards of care in South Carolina, the State Task Force developed a Strategic Response Model to improve coordination of services in our state. The model will help ensure that victims and survivors access needed support services in a more efficient manner within the limitations we currently face. Additionally, leadership of the State Task Force works closely with the National Human Trafficking Hotline to ensure that victims are referred to agencies who are meeting minimum standards within South Carolina. Leadership also maintains relationships with counterparts in other states to try to ensure victims are referred to safe alternatives out of state if our state does not have the services available.

INVESTIGATING AND PROSECUTING HUMAN TRAFFICKERS

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Two: The lack of information-sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

RECOMMENDATION (FINDING ONE, TWO AND THREE)

Resources will continue to be identified and disseminated to better support the efforts of law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges. Additionally, the law enforcement network will continue to be strengthened as to position local, state, and federal partners to share information, respond to case tips, and seek support on investigations as needed. This network will largely be developed during Law Enforcement Subcommittee meetings and training opportunities highlighting human trafficking investigative strategies.

UPDATE

The State Task Force's Strategic Response Model will continue to be developed and implemented throughout 2021. This plan will help ensure that networks continue to grow within four separate areas of the state while also flourishing within regional task forces. The Task Force will also offer additional training opportunities in 2021 to both provide knowledge that advances efforts to combat trafficking and allows for additional networking opportunities.

PREVENTING HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2020, efforts will continue to better educate law enforcement and prosecutors about the specifics of human trafficking legislation in South Carolina. Partners across the state will be better equipped to enforce rules and regulations if ongoing efforts continue in this area.

UPDATE

We have made strides in trying to meet the needs of law enforcement and prosecutors as they continually learn more about human trafficking and seek guidance from others in their fields during both investigation and prosecution of these cases. We will continue efforts to develop additional trainings and networking opportunities that can better assist these professionals in their work.

- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

RECOMMENDATION

The State Task Force will continue public awareness initiatives throughout the state. A Speakers Bureau, composed of a trained cohort of speakers, will help ensure that ingrained societal perceptions are challenged and the public remains better informed on the complexities of human trafficking.

UPDATE

In 2020, the State Task Force worked diligently to better inform the public about accurate, reliable facts. It was a trying year as misinformation was perpetuated online and through other events across the country. In response, the Task Force developed an online resource library with information, in both English and Spanish, for member use while educating themselves, young people, and others in their communities. Task Force leadership also worked with the Region IV Southeast Human Trafficking Advisory Group to develop recommendations for public awareness presentations and trainings on human trafficking. These recommendations can be found later in this report and will be shared in the online resource library.

OTHER AREAS FOR CONSIDERATION AND STUDY

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.
- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.
- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.
- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution

RECOMMENDATION

In 2020, the State Task Force will continue its efforts to support providers working with foreign national victims, fully launch its Strategic Response Model, and continue to highlight the need for online education and the use of technology in investigating human trafficking cases. We will also continue efforts to protect minor victims through partnerships with child welfare agencies and advocates, ensure both children and adolescents receive quality services that meet their unique needs, and encourage the prosecution of criminals who target children as victims of sex and/or labor trafficking.

UPDATE

The State Task Force continues to focus on issues at the nexus of immigration and human trafficking. We will carry on this work as we increase efforts primarily focused on sex trafficking to a greater emphasis on combatting labor trafficking. As the new Strategic Response Model develops, the rapid response teams will strengthen. The growth of regional task forces will also provide needed networks elsewhere in the state. As these advancements are made, our focus on the wellbeing of children and adolescents continues as a focus. There has been an increase in interagency collaboration in 2020 that will undoubtedly benefit efforts in 2021. Lastly, the State Task Force began the development of an Advisory Council this year and expects to finalize the appointment of subject matter experts in the coming year. One of the focus areas is technology. By consulting with experts in this area, we should be able to develop additional initiatives to address concerns involving the Internet.

V. State Task Force Response

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force response is multifaceted in its approach to preventing and combating the crime in our state. Throughout this report, there are references to the importance of leadership, multisector subcommittees, survivor input, a statewide strategic response, professional training, and the need for coordinated rapid response. Leadership is also mindful of the ongoing need to better educate members and the community about noteworthy factors that are relevant in South Carolina’s anti-human trafficking movement.

Historically, the U.S. anti-human trafficking field has embraced the narrative that human trafficking can happen anywhere and to anyone. While this is true, it is also important to recognize that some populations are more vulnerable to human trafficking than others. No vulnerability guarantees that an individual will be trafficked, but vulnerabilities can serve as routes to human trafficking victimization. The factors listed below may exacerbate such pathways.

INDIVIDUALS LIVING IN POVERTY

Traffickers often choose who to exploit based on potential victims’ unmet basic needs. For instance, if an individual lacks consistent access to food, water, or shelter, a trafficker may promise to feed and house them. This is a coercive tactic meant to gain the trust of the victim, so the trafficker can begin abuse. Individuals living in poverty have a host of unmet basic needs and are therefore vulnerable to fraudulent promises made by traffickers.

In 2019, an estimated 13.8% of South Carolinians were living in poverty, leaving the state with one of the worst poverty rates in the nation.^{1,2} Recent estimates of child poverty in South Carolina revealed that children fared worse, facing a poverty rate of 23%.³ State data also show that Black and Hispanic South Carolinians consistently experience poverty at far higher rates than white South Carolinians.⁴ In fact, in some counties, Black and Hispanic South Carolinians faced poverty at over three times the rate of white South Carolinians.⁵

The recent onset of the COVID-19 pandemic means that robust data analysis linking poverty to the public health crisis is lacking. However, reports of high unemployment, housing instability, and economic strife suggest that at the very least, poverty is not likely to have improved in the past year. Given the magnitude of poverty in South Carolina, it is critical that human trafficking response and prevention efforts are cognizant of the intersection between poverty and potential human trafficking victimization.

RUNAWAY AND HOMELESS YOUTH

Like individuals living in poverty, individuals experiencing homelessness are vulnerable to traffickers who spot unmet basic needs—both physical and emotional—and promise to provide shelter, safety, and other necessities. This is especially true for runaway and homeless youth (RHY), who also lack ample peer support, consistent schooling, and relationships with trustworthy adults. Data from the National Runaway Safeline, the federal communication system for RHY, show a “close connection” between running away and vulnerability to human trafficking victimization.⁶ A 2016 national study conducted by the Administration for Children and Families’ Family & Youth Services Bureau found that nearly a quarter of RHY traded sex for money or a place to spend the night.⁷ A disproportionate number of participants in the study belonged to the

LGBTQIA+ community.⁸ Additional studies have indicated that youth experiencing homelessness are also trafficked for labor, sometimes at rates similar to sex trafficking.⁹

As with human trafficking, state-level prevalence estimates of youth homelessness can be difficult to generate. Nevertheless, in its 2019 report on the state of homelessness, the South Carolina Interagency Council on Homelessness reported serving 11,338 individuals statewide currently or formerly experiencing homelessness during fiscal year 2017. Of those served, 18% were under the age of 18.¹⁰ An additional 7% were young adults between the ages of 18 and 24.¹¹ While additional data is needed, it is clear that anti-human trafficking prevention efforts and resources must work to reach South Carolina's RHY as well as youth at risk of running away and experiencing homelessness.

FOREIGN NATIONALS

Traffickers often exploit vulnerabilities related to immigration status, and many foreign-born victims of human trafficking face language barriers, lack documentation, fear deportation, or do not have knowledge of their legal rights and the services available to them.¹² Some foreign nationals also may experience deep-seated fear of law enforcement, due to experiences with corruption and violence in their home countries.¹³ Traffickers exploit all of these factors and more when recruiting and exploiting their victims, particularly if a potential victim is undocumented.

The 2019 American Community Survey found approximately 5.6% of South Carolina residents to be foreign-born.¹⁴ The most common source region for foreign-born residents was Latin America, where over half (51.7%) of foreign-born South Carolina residents originated, followed by Asia (23.3%) and Europe (15.7%). Given the diverse origins of foreign nationals in South Carolina as well as the slight growth in South Carolina's foreign-born population in recent years,¹⁵ it is imperative that anti-trafficking efforts and services address the unique needs of this population by expanding language access services, immigrant victim assistance, and other related programs. Prevention efforts targeted to this population will also be key, as traffickers often rely on potential victims' lack of knowledge of legal rights, social norms, and the English language during the initial recruitment process.

Note: According to the U.S. Census Bureau, "the term 'foreign born' refers to people residing in the U.S. at the time of the population survey who were not U.S. citizens at birth. The foreign-born population includes naturalized U.S. citizens, lawful permanent residents (i.e. immigrants), temporary migrants (e.g., foreign students), humanitarian migrants (e.g., refugees), and unauthorized migrants (i.e. people illegally present in the United States)."

INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES

Individuals with physical, cognitive, emotional, or other disabilities face a number of unique risks to human trafficking. National anti-human trafficking agencies have noted that this population may face social isolation, rely heavily on caregivers to fulfill basic needs, struggle with communication, and experience desensitization to physical touch, all factors that traffickers may manipulate and exploit.^{16,17} These risks are often compounded by the fact that individuals with disabilities may not be believed when they report potential victimization.¹⁸ In recent years, there has been growing awareness in the anti-human trafficking community of these vulnerabilities. This was reflected in data from the National Human Trafficking Hotline, which recorded 2,116 potential victims of human trafficking between 2015 and 2017 with pre-existing health issues or disability immediately before their victimization began.¹⁹

Nationally, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that 26.3% of South Carolina adults live with some type of disability, compared to 25.6% of American adults.²⁰ Furthermore, according to the 2016 Child Count, 9,567 South Carolina children ages three through five received special education services²¹ as well as 93,921 children ages 6-21.²² While South Carolina lacks data on the number of minors and adults with disabilities who have suffered human trafficking victimization, it is important that those working with this population remain vigilant for potential signs of exploitation and create safe mechanisms for potential victims to report abuse.

LGBTQIA+

Persistent discrimination against members of the LGBTQIA+ community renders LGBTQIA+ identifying individuals physically and emotionally vulnerable to human trafficking. Research has found that LGBTQIA+ community members often face disproportionately high rates of harassment and sexual victimization relative to the general population.²³ Transgender individuals in particular face high rates of violence, with an estimated one in two transgender individuals facing sexual abuse or assault at some point in their lives.²⁴ These trends are increasingly pronounced in the LGBTQIA+ youth population. For instance, LGBTQIA+ youth also face higher rates of discrimination and violence relative to their heterosexual peers²⁵ and make up a disproportionate number of runaway and homeless youth, due in large part to family rejection and bullying.²⁶ Traffickers not only may seek to fulfill basic, physical needs in the form of shelter and food, but they may also cultivate a sense of belonging and love to entice LGBTQIA+ youth who have been socially ostracized or bullied for their sexuality.²⁷ Runaway and homeless LGBTQIA+ youth therefore face multiple intersecting vulnerabilities that may increase the number of potential routes to human trafficking victimization.

It is critical that services available to both minor and adult victims/survivors of human trafficking are LGBTQIA+ friendly. Victims and survivors who are members of the LGBTQIA+ community have unique needs and experiences that deserve to be addressed. Though victims/survivors may not readily identify as LGBTQIA+ or even as victims of human trafficking, it is imperative that individuals and agencies involved in the multidisciplinary response to human trafficking are actively creating safe and comfortable environments for these individuals to disclose their experiences and receive quality, trauma-informed care.

CONCLUSION

It is important to note that this is by no means a comprehensive list of the vulnerabilities that may contribute to human trafficking victimization. Individuals with a history of trauma, abuse, or domestic violence may also be at higher risk, as are youth living in foster care. Traffickers may exploit individuals who are addicted to drugs or alcohol, or those who have family members who abuse substances. Furthermore, increased study of human trafficking data reveal that in some areas of the country, people of color are trafficked at disproportionately high rates—additional data is needed at the state and national levels to understand the impact of systemic racism and discrimination on patterns of human trafficking victimization.²⁸ Yet, even individuals lacking all of the aforementioned experiences and identities may be vulnerable if they have low self-esteem and a deep desire for belonging, as traffickers are adept at spotting those who can be emotionally manipulated and groomed for exploitation.

For the sake of this report, the vulnerabilities discussed in this section have been divided into neat, isolated categories. However, this does not reflect the reality that vulnerabilities to human trafficking frequently intersect with each other. Traffickers are skilled at spotting these intersections and often use them to their advantage. As advocates in the anti-human trafficking field, it is imperative that we recognize when vulnerabilities intersect so we can provide victim/survivors with trauma-informed care and services that address their lived experiences.

By naming and analyzing a number of key vulnerabilities, the State Task Force aims to increase the ability of Task Force members and the general public alike to recognize potential victims before exploitation occurs in order to prevent human trafficking altogether. If high-risk individuals can be proactively identified, educated on the issue of human trafficking, and connected with services to address their underlying vulnerabilities, then this heinous crime and the trauma it inflicts could be prevented entirely.

State Task Force Advisory Council

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force continually assesses its structure for modifications that could potentially improve the response to the crime and provide holistic services to victims and survivors. To fully address the aforementioned vulnerabilities, leadership decided on the inclusion of additional subject matter experts. The goal is for these experts to inform

VI. The Impact of the COVID-19 Pandemic

The spread of COVID-19 in 2020 upended the status quo of our state, country, and world. As the U.S. shut down in the spring, the anti-human trafficking field was confronted with myriad problems: How should service providers safely assist survivors of human trafficking? How could anti-human trafficking education and prevention efforts reach a public in quarantine? What would statewide, targeted initiatives look like in a virtual capacity?

Since March, the State Task Force and the anti-human trafficking field writ large has responded to these and other challenges. Service providers across South Carolina have developed innovative and creative ways to reach and serve survivors, even in the midst of the ongoing public health crisis. The State Task Force created and launched a bilingual online resource library to educate the public in an increasingly virtual environment, while continuing to conduct online presentations, trainings, and meetings with local, state, regional, and national partners. For instance, the Task Force converted its second Victim Service Provider—Human Trafficking Training (VSP-HT) to a webinar format to ensure direct service providers still received the critical information and skills needed to provide quality services. The State Task Force also continued to develop multiple statewide initiatives by connecting with stakeholders virtually and converting meetings, resources, and presentations to online settings.

The State Task Force has adapted its statewide response to the new challenges brought on by COVID-19. Yet, as the pandemic worsens, it continues to wreak havoc across economies, healthcare systems, schools, and communities statewide. Such widespread disruption breeds vulnerability to human trafficking and exacerbates existing economic, social, and racial inequalities that can lead to victimization. Traffickers prey upon individuals who lack steady, or any, employment, and those who face financial instability, homelessness, or hunger. Traffickers look for those who are socially isolated and without a strong support network, and they promise companionship and a better life. While human trafficking can happen to anyone, the COVID-19 pandemic has magnified a harsh reality: Those who already face physical, emotional, economic, social, or other vulnerabilities may face more routes to human trafficking victimization.

Given the profound lack of human trafficking data at local, state, and national levels, the full impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on human trafficking is unknown. More data is needed to understand if and how human trafficking rates have changed across South Carolina, and how individual vulnerabilities have impacted rates of human trafficking victimization. At the state level, the Data Management & Research Subcommittee is working to bolster data collection efforts to better inform statewide response and initiatives to combat human trafficking, both in and beyond the pandemic. Nevertheless, while gaps in data remain amidst the ongoing pandemic, education and training on the potential vulnerabilities that can lead to human trafficking may aid overall human trafficking prevention and response efforts.

While the pandemic continues, the Task Force will continue to offer trainings, presentations, and meetings in a virtual format to accommodate safety concerns. Additionally, to address the ongoing need for online education, the State Task Force will continue adding to its Online Resource Library while also launching an online repository for recorded trainings, webinars, and presentations. The purpose of the repository will be to increase access to high-quality trainings among both the general public and specific industries who require specialized training on human trafficking. These resources, while key to the Task Force's continued pandemic response, will be increasingly beneficial post-COVID-19 as South Carolina expands its anti-trafficking efforts.

As 2020 ended, the challenges created by COVID-19 unfortunately continue. Nonetheless, the innovation, dedication, and creativity displayed by the anti-human trafficking efforts of Task Force members throughout the pandemic give hope for the future. The State Task Force remains confident in the ability of members statewide to continue protecting victims, prosecuting traffickers, and preventing the crime of human trafficking as the public health crisis continues.

VII. Task Force Initiatives

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force seeks to engage in innovative initiatives each year to further anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina. In 2020, the Task Force faced challenges in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic. While some plans were paused for future implementation, leadership was able to identify projects that would be beneficial to those working in the field as well as progress efforts in much-needed areas.

VICTIM SERVICE PROVIDER CERTIFICATION FOR HUMAN TRAFFICKING PROFESSIONALS

The State Task Force, under the direction of the SC Office of the Attorney General, offered the Victim Service Provider Certification for Human Trafficking Professionals (VSP-HT). The training was offered in September and October over five days with three hours of presentations on each day. The VSP-HT was held virtually and approximately 25 professionals completed the state-level certification. Leadership is appreciative of all those who presented during the 15 hour training.

STATEWIDE PUBLIC AWARENESS & OUTREACH

In late 2020, the State Task Force prepared for a statewide public awareness and outreach initiative to begin in January 2021 during National Human Trafficking Awareness Month. Throughout the month of January, as part of the Facts Matter campaign, there will be daily social media posts sharing human trafficking information with members of the virtual community. Furthermore, the Task Force will be launching a billboard campaign in four areas of the state, distributing both the mandated poster and new posters aligned with the campaign, and sharing brochures on the website for download. The goal is to educate communities across South Carolina about human trafficking through the use of accurate, reliably sourced information.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA: COVID-19 SURVEY FOR SERVICE PROVIDERS

INTRODUCTION

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the State Task Force formed a partnership with the University of South Carolina Master of Social Work program to design and disseminate a survey examining the impact of the COVID-19 crisis on service providers in the Task Force. The survey intended to capture trends in human trafficking victimization, understand any changes to service provision brought on by the pandemic, and provide additional information on demographic trends in human trafficking victims and survivors. The survey was distributed in October 2020 through the Task Force's service provider listserv.

It is important to note the limitations of this survey. There were 57 participants who responded to at least one question of the 27-item online survey. Of the 57 respondents, 45 self-identified as direct service providers and 12 self-identified as indirect service providers. However, three of the 57 were not counted in the data below due to insufficient responses or because the respondent's work did not pertain to human trafficking. Of the remaining 54 participants, there were often multiple respondents that submitted surveys on behalf of the same agency. Recognizing that the diverse work of responding agencies may mean that individuals within the same agency see different patterns of human trafficking victimization, the Task Force counted all responses as reflective of individual, not agency, opinions.

SURVEY DATA

Have you seen an increased need for services to support victims/survivors of sex trafficking due to COVID-19?

Have you seen an increased need for services to support victims/survivors of labor trafficking due to COVID-19?

The data above reflect the disparity in services available for sex and labor trafficking. Twice as many service providers (14.8%) reported that they were unable to speak to a shift in the need for labor trafficking services because the services were ‘not applicable,’ compared to a smaller percentage (7.4%) who could not speak to a shift in the need for sex trafficking services. Likewise, a greater percentage (29.6%) reported that they did not know if there was an increased need for labor trafficking services, compared to the same question regarding sex trafficking services, where only 18.5% did not know. A far greater share of service providers (44.4%) said they saw an increased need for sex trafficking services. Only 16.7% of service providers reported that they saw an increased need for labor trafficking services.

COVID-19 has impacted the way in which our agency delivers services to human trafficking victims/survivors.

Have you seen an increase in victims/survivors of related forms of abuse, such as domestic violence or child abuse, due to COVID-19?

The data here reflect an array of responses to service delivery during the COVID-19 pandemic as well as potential changes in trends in related victimization, such as domestic violence or child abuse. The majority (55.5%) of service providers agreed that COVID-19 impacted their service delivery to some degree. Many service provider responses to the questionnaires later in this report give concrete examples of the particular protocols and methods that were implemented to reduce the spread of COVID-19 and promote safe service delivery. Regarding trends in related victimization, responses were also varied. While 44.4% of respondents reported they had seen an increase in related abuse, nearly a quarter (25.9%) reported that they had not. The combination of respondents who reported that they either did not know, did not find the question to be applicable to their work, or had no answer was large, representing 29.7% of respondents. It is important to note that this survey was sent out in October with responses collected in early November. This data therefore does not reflect the increase in COVID-19 cases that coincided with the holidays.

CONCLUSION

While this data has significant limitations and represents only a small portion of South Carolina's anti-human trafficking response, it nevertheless provides a useful gauge for the ways in which the pandemic has impacted human trafficking across the state. As COVID-19 continues to spread in 2021, the State Task Force will work to bolster its data collection initiatives in order to augment this data. Efforts such as this will be needed at local, regional, and state levels to ensure that anti-human trafficking programs and initiatives are responsive to the reality of the crime on the ground, especially as the pandemic evolves.

The State Task Force plans to continue developing partnerships with institutions of higher education to engage both college-aged youth and educational institutions in combatting human trafficking. Though efforts to launch the Higher Education Initiative were paused in 2020 due to COVID-19, the Task Force is adapting its strategy to fit the pandemic environment so this program can move forward in the 2021. Once launched, the Higher Education Initiative will work to develop and provide human trafficking training and awareness materials, as well as guidance on the development of protocols to respond to potential human trafficking situations involving faculty, staff, and/or students. The aim of this initiative will be to ensure that systems within South Carolina's colleges and universities are prepared to prevent and protect against human trafficking.

LABOR TRAFFICKING

Nationwide, labor trafficking is an under discussed and underreported form of human trafficking. Relative to sex trafficking, labor trafficking is the subject of far fewer public awareness campaigns and trainings, which in turn hampers victim identification efforts. Low levels of victim identification translate into even lower numbers of labor trafficking cases brought forth. The failure to address labor trafficking in equal measure ultimately leaves victims and survivors without critical services, often for months or years at a time. South Carolina in particular faces a dearth of labor trafficking-specific services, making it even more difficult for victims and survivors to find refuge.

To remedy these gaps in South Carolina, the State Task Force has placed high priority on anti-labor trafficking initiatives. The Task Force relaunched the Labor Trafficking Subcommittee in 2020 and began developing key initiatives to address this form of exploitation. This priority is shared by the Administration for Children and Families' Region IV Southeast Human Trafficking Advisory Group and the National Compendium of State-Run Anti-Human Trafficking Initiatives. In 2020, both entities pledged independently to expand their efforts to combat labor trafficking.

The State Task Force's Labor Trafficking Subcommittee, chaired by the Department of Labor, coordinates anti-labor trafficking initiatives at the state level. In 2020, these initiatives included the development of labor trafficking-specific resources for the Task Force Online Resource Library and the inclusion of labor trafficking training in the 2020 VSP-HT webinars as well as other community presentations. In 2021, the Labor Trafficking Subcommittee plans to create and launch a publicly accessible webinar training on labor trafficking, develop labor trafficking public awareness campaigns, implement sector-specific labor trafficking trainings, and increase the collection of labor trafficking data. The goal of these initiatives is to bolster public engagement on the topic, increase labor trafficking victim identification, and equip Task Force members and the public to identify labor trafficking cases and serve survivors.

It is critical that anti-human trafficking programs at the local, state, and national levels adapt to fill the systemic gaps in labor trafficking response. By creating and promoting these initiatives, the State Task Force hopes to equalize the responses to sex and labor trafficking, and bolster criminal justice, victim service, and public education efforts that target labor trafficking.

ONLINE RESOURCE LIBRARY

In the spring of 2020, the Task Force began developing materials for an online resource library in order to improve virtual human trafficking education and awareness during the COVID-19 crisis. The Online Resource Library launched in August and contains bilingual resources in English and Spanish on a variety of topics including human trafficking, sex & labor trafficking, and internet safety & human trafficking. These fact sheets are publicly available for download. They are designed to educate the public, augment Task Force members' online trainings, and reach Spanish-speaking community members.

The Task Force plans to continue adding resources to the library throughout 2021. The State Task Force has also uploaded recorded videos of its quarterly meetings to the Task Force website and will post future webinar trainings to the site as well. To house these resources, trainings, and recordings, the Task Force is working to launch a knowledge repository in 2021 to more efficiently centralize these materials. By making these fact sheets, resources, webinars, and meetings publicly accessible to the website, and eventually, to an online repository, the Task Force aims to reach a broader audience with online learning opportunities and state updates. Though this approach was initially adopted to meet the unique needs of the ongoing pandemic, the State Task Force will continue to utilize online learning strategies beyond the COVID-19 crisis to expand the reach of its initiatives and engage wider, more diverse audiences.

VIII. National Human Trafficking Hotline Data

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force and the National Human Trafficking Hotline maintain an ongoing partnership. The Task Force promotes the use of the National Hotline, assists in effectively relaying tips to law enforcement in South Carolina, and vets direct service providers to prevent revictimization and connect victims and survivors to much-needed quality services. The National Hotline provides the Task Force with data that helps shape our statewide response to the crime as well as the development of support services for victims and survivors.

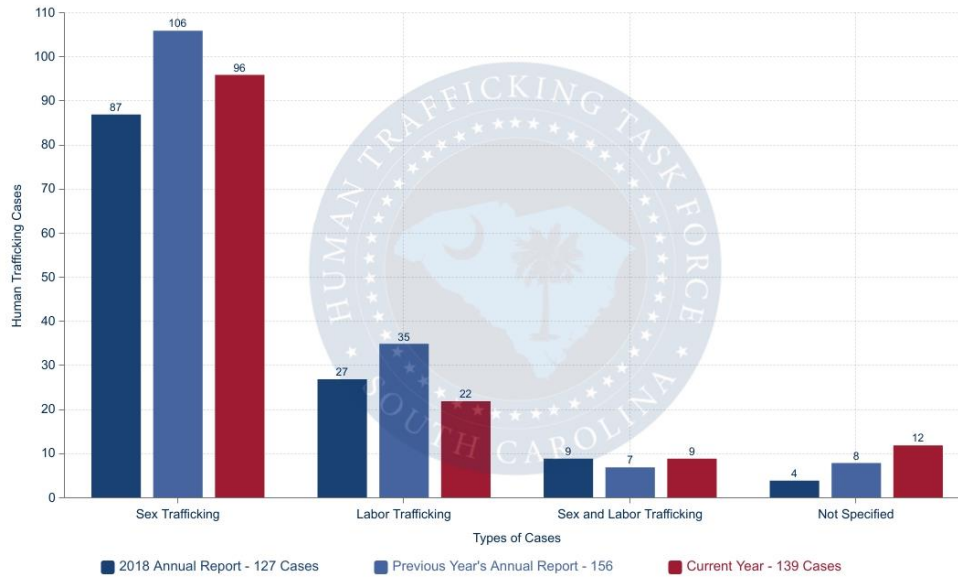

Given the complexities of maintaining and ensuring clean data, the National Human Trafficking Hotline provided 2019 statistics pertaining to human trafficking in South Carolina. The statistics provided do not represent a comprehensive report of trafficking cases in South Carolina throughout that period. They represent only signals and cases made to the National Human Trafficking Hotline during the time period. The statistics are accurate at the time of this report. However, situations of trafficking may be ongoing or new information may be revealed to the National Hotline at a later date. Consequently, statistics may be subject to change as new information emerges.

The charts below represent human trafficking cases with at least one location recorded in South Carolina. The numbers may differ from the numbers on the National Hotline website.

IX. Court Data: Pending & Closed

In 2020, 10 different defendants were charged with human trafficking, some with more than one charge, totaling 13 charges of human trafficking in the South Carolina State Courts. Three defendants pled guilty in 2020 to charges related to trafficking. Five charges were dismissed, one because the defendant pled to a different charge for a total of eight cases closed. Local law enforcement worked with State and Federal law enforcement agencies investigating cases. The coordinated efforts resulted in successful investigations, even during the challenges of the pandemic. As of this report, there are 75 charges of human trafficking pending in South Carolina State Courts with 22 different defendants. While tips are starting to come in concerning labor trafficking, the pending charges all reflect sex trafficking allegations in South Carolina.

X. Highlighted Partnerships

Each year, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, via the Attorney General's Office, seeks opportunities to develop new partnerships while strengthening existing collaborations. Given obstacles faced by many industries in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, anti-human trafficking efforts were unexpectedly interrupted to varying degrees.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force honors collaboration in its approach to combatting the crime and providing specialized services to victims and survivors. The goal of these partnerships is to ultimately aid in combatting human trafficking throughout South Carolina, the Southeast region, and our nation. In turn, such efforts will assist in building the capacity of law enforcement and other professional service providers to meet the specific needs of victims and survivors.

To effectively communicate and collaborate with partners across the nation, Attorney General Alan Wilson and his staff actively contribute to regional and national workgroups. While the following groups are focused on solving the complex challenges that factor into abolishing human trafficking, they vary in their approaches within the anti-human trafficking arena.

In 2021, the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General will continue its commitment to collaboration via participation in regional and national coalitions as well as maintaining and establishing new partnerships with those critical to efforts within South Carolina.

NEW PARTNERSHIP

The South Carolina Department on Aging (SCDOA) works to enhance the quality of life for South Carolina's senior population. SCDOA utilizes a network of local and regional organizations to provide services that promote senior citizens' ability to live independently and remain in their communities.

In the fall of 2020, the State Task Force established a partnership with SCDOA. This partnership was formed with the recognition that while the aging population is particularly at-risk of human trafficking victimization, there are very few anti-human trafficking efforts underway in South Carolina to address their vulnerability. Together, SCDOA and the Task Force aim to share resources, develop and implement trainings, and collaborate on additional efforts to ensure that South Carolina's aging population is educated on the issue of human trafficking and prepared to report any potential exploitation.

In 2021, the State Task Force and SCDOA will work to distribute human trafficking awareness magnets and brochures to approximately 19,000 individuals through SCDOA's Meals on Wheels initiative. The Task Force will also partner with the department to begin staggered human trafficking trainings for SCDOA staff throughout the spring and into the summer.

The National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG) provides a forum for the exchange of knowledge, experiences, and insights on subjects of importance to the Attorneys General of the states, territories, and district. It fosters local, state, and federal engagement, cooperation, and communication on legal and law enforcement issues. It provides training, research, and analysis to members and their staff on a wide range of subjects relevant to the practice areas of the Attorneys General offices.

Attorneys General across the nation recognize that human trafficking is a scourge upon our communities. To proactively and collaboratively combat this crime, the Attorneys General have established the NAAG Human Trafficking Committee. The committee's goals are to investigate and promote best practices for combating human trafficking at the state level. Focus areas include law enforcement and prosecution strategies, educational outreach efforts, and alliances with partner agencies and non-governmental organizations.

As a longtime proponent of anti-human trafficking efforts and an active member of NAAG, South Carolina Attorney General Alan Wilson continued to be a sitting member of the Human Trafficking Committee in 2020. The committee has compiled resources to help states abolish this crime and posted them on the national website (www.naag.org). Along with Attorney General Wilson, the following Attorneys General have committed their offices to the cause of counter human trafficking by participating in the 2020 NAAG Human Trafficking Committee.

REGION IV - SOUTHEAST LEADERSHIP ADVISORY GROUP

The US Department of Health & Human Services (DHHS) Administration for Children and Families (ACF) Region IV office in Atlanta coordinates the Southeast Leadership Advisory Group representing eight states. Representatives from each of the participating states, namely state task force leads and other state agency representatives, typically meet four times a year. With two meetings hosted by member states and two meetings via conference call, the group regularly discusses pressing issues in the anti-human trafficking field. The eight states who participate in this coalition include: South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

In 2020, the Region IV Southeast Human Trafficking Advisory Group met once via conference call after the pandemic had impacted all eight states. The states were joined by members of federal agencies and national partners. Discussions focused on the impact of the pandemic on service providers, state agencies, and efforts at the national level. The second meeting was scheduled to be held in Mississippi, but was canceled as a result of unsafe traveling conditions.

Throughout 2020, Advisory Group's Guide on Best Practices, released in 2018, continued to be a useful tool in efforts at the state-level in South Carolina. Specifically, it helps guide training and conversations around safe, quality care for victims and survivors of human trafficking. The State Task Force has made the resource available on its website and integrated the information into a section of the South Carolina Victim Service Provider certification for human trafficking professionals, the first of its kind in the nation. The guide continues to help influence those providing direct services as they seek to improve or further develop services for victims and survivors. The resource can be found on the State Task Force website at humantrafficking.scag.gov.

The lead representative from South Carolina in 2020 continued to be Kathryn Moorehead of the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, Director of VAWA and Human Trafficking Programs/South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force. Megan Rigabar, Human Trafficking Program Assistant at the South Carolina Office of the Attorney General, also represents the state and contributes to the groups projects. In 2021, representation will likely include delegates from other state agencies and Task Force subcommittee leaders. 2021 meetings of the Southeast Leadership Advisory Group are to be determined as the pandemic is continually monitored to ensure safety of its members.

GUIDANCE ON HUMAN TRAFFICKING TRAINING AND AWARENESS

In 2020, the Region IV Southeast Leadership Advisory Group identified the need for greater consistency and standardization within state and regional human trafficking training and awareness efforts. This need was only amplified with the proliferation of viral online content on human trafficking in the summer of 2020. To address these issues, the Advisory Group collaborated to create a two-page document outlining key questions to guide training and awareness efforts, potential components to include in awareness and training initiatives, and additional important considerations and supplemental materials to aid advocates in developing this work.

The resulting document, “Guidance on Human Trafficking Training and Awareness,” was created by a training workgroup within the broader Advisory Group which consisted of representatives from South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Florida. Megan Rigabar, Human Trafficking Program Assistant at the South Carolina Office of the Attorney General, represented South Carolina in providing design assistance and content feedback. Once drafted, the document was edited and reviewed by all states in Advisory Group. Please see below for the final resource.

GUIDANCE ON HUMAN TRAFFICKING TRAINING AND AWARENESS

Region IV Southeast Human Trafficking Advisory Group

Training and awareness on human trafficking are key to building capacity for communities to comprehensively address the issue. While training and awareness efforts on both sex and labor trafficking have existed for some time, guidance on structure, content, and important considerations has been limited. High quality training and awareness is necessary to ensure that information is accurate, survivor-centered, and helpful to the field; it also removes the harm caused by sensationalism or perpetuation of myths.

Human trafficking is a complex issue by nature, making it particularly important to maintain accuracy and clarity in all public education efforts. This tool provides a list of questions, considerations, and resources that should be addressed prior to initiating training or awareness initiatives. This resource is for all entities, including those currently engaged and those intending to engage in efforts to address human trafficking.

Before initiating a training, ask the following questions:

- Are there any state/federally-recognized task forces or other vetted local organizations I can connect with to provide training in my community? If not, is there an expert I can partner with to review my training/awareness materials?
- Are there any state guidelines or requirements around providing human trafficking training?
- What are the local laws addressing human trafficking in my/this state?
- What is the intended audience and intended outcome of this effort?

HUMAN TRAFFICKING AWARENESS

Awareness events and messaging include:

- Basic information sharing on the issue
- Messaging addressing a general audience
- Goals include:
 - Increasing public awareness of the nature and scope of human trafficking
 - Generating community support
 - Sharing resources on reporting cases and accessing services
- Examples: Brochures, posters,* public service announcements, general education, and billboards
- Considerations:
 - Will this awareness effort bring helpful support and attention to enhance local efforts?
 - Is this awareness project duplicative of existing local efforts?
 - Are statistics or data being represented accurately and are the sources reliable and well-documented?
 - Do awareness materials utilize appropriate language/imagery and represent diverse populations?

HUMAN TRAFFICKING TRAINING

Training events and messaging include:

- In-depth, skills-based information to improve systems, services, practices.
- Messaging addressing a targeted audience
- Requires presenters to be trained prior to facilitation
- Sector-specific training requires a facilitator partnership with someone from that sector
- Example: Training for law enforcement (LE) is facilitated or co-led by LE, includes sound data and guidance for the role of LE, and teaches skills to LE officers to better identify & respond to human trafficking.
- Considerations:
 - Are there experienced trainers (within the applicable sector) in the community that are able to provide this training?
 - Are training resources from reliable sources?
 - Does training include information on state requirements for reporting human trafficking and how to access services?

NATIONAL COMPENDIUM OF STATE-RUN ANTI-HUMAN TRAFFICKING INITIATIVES

A growing number of statewide initiatives have been created across the country that are generally housed within a state government agency. The National Compendium of State-Run Anti-Human Trafficking Initiatives is a group of professionals, primarily operating at the state level, who work on human trafficking issues and inform state-level policy decisions on how to address the crime. The National Compendium is designed as an opportunity for leaders to share ideas with one another to boost anti-human trafficking efforts both nationally and within their own states. It is led by the Colorado Human Trafficking Council under the Colorado Department of Public Safety, Division of Criminal Justice, Office for Victims Programs.

Currently, the National Compendium is composed of 37 states and two national agencies. South Carolina remains an active member. Kathryn Moorehead, Coordinator of the State Task Force, joined four other state leaders on the first Steering Committee of the National Compendium. The other states represented in the Steering Committee include North Carolina, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Nevada. Each member will serve on the committee for two year terms.

The National Compendium meets throughout the year via e-meetings to discuss goals, challenges, resources, and other relevant topics that relate to the collective efforts of the states. In 2020, the meetings occurred on February 4th, May 5th, August 4th, and November 2nd. Meeting topics included the following:

The National Human Trafficking Hotline and BeFree Textline (hereto referred to as “the hotline”) is the nationwide anti-human trafficking hotline and resource center serving victims and survivors of human trafficking and the anti-trafficking community in the United States. Since 2007, it has been run by Polaris, a nonprofit, non-governmental organization.

The hotline provides human trafficking victims and survivors with access to critical support and services to get help and stay safe. They also equip the anti-human trafficking community with tools to effectively combat human trafficking. The hotline offers round-the-clock access to a safe space to report tips, seek services, and ask for help. Through the hotline, Polaris also provides innovative anti-trafficking trainings, technical assistance, and capacity building support.

FORMAL PARTNERSHIP

In May 2017, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, under the leadership of the Office of the Attorney General, formalized its partnership with Polaris to strengthen statewide capacity to respond to and support victims/survivors. By entering into a Memorandum of Understanding, both parties officially recognized the importance of collaboration to identify and serve victims, promote greater public awareness, and increase the skills and capacity of law enforcement and professional service providers in understanding and responding to human trafficking in South Carolina.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, under the leadership of the State Task Force Coordinator, continued to work in partnership with the organization throughout 2020. Specifically, collaboration was primarily in relation to the state’s connection to the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Our partnership continues to effectively position stakeholders in South Carolina to better respond to potential incidents of human trafficking and provide victims and survivors access with much-needed services. Efforts include continuing to ensure law enforcement receives time sensitive tips for investigation and direct service providers are better accessed to help guarantee that victims are connected with safe, quality services.

In 2015, the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, as Chair of the State Task Force, established a partnership with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to collaborate on anti-human trafficking efforts through the Blue Campaign.

The Blue Campaign is DHS's unified voice for agency efforts to combat human trafficking through public awareness and education. The partnership between DHS and the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force continued throughout 2020. In 2021, we are committed to working in collaboration to bring much-needed awareness about human trafficking to citizens of South Carolina and share resources available through the campaign that may benefit widespread efforts.

To alert community advocates to the resources available through the Blue Campaign, the State Task Force has chosen to highlight the Human Trafficking Awareness Month initiatives led by DHS. For more information, please visit their website and view their Facebook page or Twitter account at DHS Blue Campaign. These sites will provide added insight into available resources, online training opportunities, and other initiatives.

We would like to note that January 11th is National Human Trafficking Awareness Day and the Blue Campaign is encouraging those committed to abolishing human trafficking to bring awareness to the cause by wearing blue, taking photos of themselves, friends, and/or co-workers and sharing these images on social media accompanied with #wearblueday.

It is well known within the anti-human trafficking movement that the Internet is a tool frequently used in the commercial sexual exploitation of children. The Internet must be monitored, and innovative technology continuously developed, if we are to protect our children from predators. To this effect, law enforcement requires access to resources and training in how to utilize ever-evolving technology.

Thorn is a unique nonprofit leveraging technology to combat child sexual exploitation. They are partnered with international NGOs and technology volunteers to stop the spread of child sexual abuse material and combat child traffickers who utilize the Internet in their crimes. Their work is guided by three principals: accelerate victim identification, equip platforms, and empower the public.

In 2015, Thorn built a technological tool, Spotlight, to help law enforcement identify child sex trafficking victims and arrest their abusers. Currently, officers in all 50 states and Canada leverage the tool in their investigations and have helped to identify at least 14,874 child victims of human trafficking in the past four years. The technology identifies ten children per day on average, generating more than a 60% reduction in search time. Ultimately, Spotlight has equipped law enforcement to tackle more cases of child sexual exploitation within a shorter time frame.

To actualize a vision where all of South Carolina's law enforcement agencies are equipped to monitor the Internet for child sex trafficking, the State Task Force continued its collaboration with Thorn in 2020. To expand access and use of Thorn's Spotlight technology throughout South Carolina, information on Spotlight has been incorporated into law enforcement trainings. In January 2021, the Task Force will continue to bring awareness to the benefits of using Spotlight in investigations by hosting a training led by Thorn that will center on the newest updates to the technology as well as investigative benefits that have resulted from these changes.

Legal Assistance for Survivors of Trafficking (LAST) is a network of multidisciplinary attorneys across South Carolina who provide high-quality pro bono legal counsel and direct representation for survivors of trafficking. Through a case-by-case model, LAST works to secure justice for individual clients and to shape a justice system in our state that works for survivors of human trafficking.

LAST was formed in 2017 with a goal of providing every survivor of human trafficking in South Carolina access to high quality, trauma-informed legal representation. The model of LAST is to perform intake, screening, and placement of legal needs for survivors with trained pro bono counsel. LAST also equips the private bar to participate through statewide public engagements and Continuing Legal Education trainings, and through technical legal assistance and mentorship once matters are assigned to pro bono attorneys.

Human traffickers are increasingly targeting an especially vulnerable population: those with intellectual and physical disabilities. There have been grotesque examples in South Carolina of this crime perpetrated against disabled individuals. Knowledge of these crimes drew the attention of the Task Force leadership and motivated its increased focus in this area. In 2018, the Attorney General's Coordinator of the State Task Force became a member and representative of South Carolina on the National Human Trafficking and Disabilities Work Group (NHTDWG).

The mission of the Work Group is to prevent the trafficking of individuals with disabilities and deaf individuals and to advance the health and well-being of trafficking survivors with disabilities and deaf survivors of trafficking through research, policy analysis, technical assistance, and training.

In 2020, the State Task Force continued efforts to recruit others in South Carolina who have an interest in joining state and national efforts to prevent individuals with disabilities from becoming victims. Additionally, the Task Force is engaging those interested in advocating on behalf of this population and shaping needed policy changes through the newly formed Advisory Council.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General and the South Carolina Trucking Association (SCTA) partnered in January of 2018 along with Truckers Against Trafficking for the first Coalition Build in South Carolina. Law enforcement from 26 agencies joined trucking industry workers in Columbia to learn about human trafficking, learn how to respond to potential incidents, and create a network ready to help combat this crime throughout our state. On the same day, Attorney General Wilson announced that the South Carolina Trucking Association was officially joining the State Task Force to continue highlighting the need to combat human trafficking in the trucking industry.

The South Carolina Trucking Association is a nonprofit trade organization that represents all the various parties constituting South Carolina's vibrant trucking industry. The association was first formed in the 1930s when truck operators found it necessary to do collectively what they could not do individually. Since its inception, the SCTA has been dedicated to the protection, support, and enrichment of its collective membership, while promoting good public policy. The SCTA mission is to advocate, educate and collaborate for successful trucking operations in South Carolina.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, under the leadership of the Office of the Attorney General, signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in 2018 with the South Carolina Hospital Association (SCHA). The MOU officially welcomed the Hospital Association as a member of the State Task Force and recognized their commitment to supporting efforts to educate medical care providers across South Carolina about the complexities of human trafficking. This includes supporting specialized training efforts that center around the official state protocol for medical providers that was completed by the Task Force Healthcare Providers Subcommittee. The trainings will help those in the field identify potential victims and learn how to best respond to their needs. The Task Force continues to value its partnership with the Hospital Association and the impact our combined efforts will have on victims and survivors in South Carolina.

SCHA is a private, not-for-profit organization made up of some 100 member hospitals and health systems and about 900 personal members associated with their institutional members. The SCHA was created in 1921 to serve as the collective voice of the state's hospital community. The Association is proud to be a part of the state's hospital industry, adding value to efforts to care for the people of South Carolina. By helping to keep South Carolina's hospitals healthy, they are helping to keep our state healthy.

SCHA's mission is to support its member hospitals in creating a world-class health care delivery system for the people of South Carolina by fostering high quality patient care and serving as effective advocates for the hospital community. Their vision is that South Carolina's hospitals will be national leaders in improving the quality and safety of patient care, and that SCHA will be a national leader in advocacy. SCHA's credo is 'we are stronger together than apart.'

Nationally, professionals in the anti-human trafficking arena have recognized that vulnerable populations are most often targeted by traffickers. This includes Indigenous people who may be living in rural areas of the country and struggling to financially sustain themselves and their families. In 2018, the State Task Force partnered with the Indigenous Women's Alliance of South Carolina to support Indigenous citizens of South Carolina through human trafficking awareness efforts. A goal was established to help prevent and protect human trafficking in their tribal communities and implemented in part during 2019.

The Indigenous Women's Alliance of South Carolina is a subcommittee under the South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission. While the Commission focuses on unity among Native Americans, the Alliance focuses on serving Indigenous women in or from South Carolina. The primary goal is to support Indigenous women by bringing attention to issues such as human trafficking, intimate partner violence, and inadequate access to justice. The Alliance promotes skills such as advocacy, healthy living, and leadership.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force formally began its partnership with the South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association in 2019. The goal is to bring awareness to the members of the association regarding both sex and labor trafficking and to better position the hospitality industry to respond to incidents within their establishments.

The South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association (SCRLA) was formed in 2012 when the South Carolina Hotel & Motel Association and the South Carolina Restaurant Association merged into a single organization. SCRLA is a statewide, non-partisan trade organization. Their mission is to promote, protect, and educate the foodservice and lodging industries of the state and to ensure positive business growth for our members. SCRLA strives to represent the best interest of its members on small business issues, hospitality, and tourism concerns and towards the protection of South Carolina's quality of life.

The SCRLA mission is to provide superior value and effective communication by being the voice of the foodservice and lodging industry in government and public relations, offering operational benefits, and creating opportunities for educational opportunities and member involvement.

The South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association represents over 2,200-member restaurant and lodging companies and industry-related service providers. It is these members that help make the hospitality industry South Carolina's largest employer and one of the state's most politically active and public service-oriented industries.

The South Carolina Beer Wholesalers Association pledged their commitment in November of 2019 to help combat human trafficking in our state by partnering with the State Task Force. In 2020, the Association distributed posters across the state to help bring awareness of the crime as well as information on how to report an incident or seek help through the National Human Trafficking Hotline. The delivery trucks had signage posted on them throughout January, National Human Trafficking Awareness Month, to further expose the public to the hotline number. Furthermore, the Task Force began training 16 distributors across the state about human trafficking, how to respond safely, and the best response protocols specific to their industry. Some of the trainings were interrupted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Opportunities for future trainings will be available once the best method is confirmed.

The purpose of the South Carolina Beer Wholesalers Association is to provide leadership which enhances the independent malt beverage wholesale industry, to advocate on behalf of its members before government and the public, to encourage the responsible consumption of beer, and to provide programs and services that will enhance members' efficiency and effectiveness.

South Carolina's beer wholesalers operate in a unique regulatory environment that was established by the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, as well as the federal and state governments in the wake of the repeal of prohibition. Beer wholesalers occupy the middle tier of a three-tier system established for the distribution and sale of beer. This system was designed to insulate retailers from control by suppliers, encourage moderation in consumption, guarantee full collection of state and federal taxes, and permit states to impose rules and regulations on the licensed beverage industry that reflect their own practices and beliefs. This three-tier system has far exceeded its creators' expectations. It is highly efficient and extremely responsive to local concerns.

In 2019, the Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force met with representatives of the United States Committee on Refugees and Immigrants (USCRI) to foster a relationship that would influence the state's response to foreign national victims in need of support services. The Task Force hopes to create a systemic response to connecting victims and survivors with safe, quality programming.

In 2020, USCRI hoped to coordinate with the Attorney General's Office to meet with direct service providers in South Carolina who would like to expand or develop programs to reach this population. The meeting was intended to feature opportunities for fiscal support as well as training on the requirements to receive ongoing funding and technical support. It is hoped that the meeting will be rescheduled in 2021 to position more organizations to provide much-needed services. Meanwhile, the State Task Force works with the Committee to connect victims and survivors with needed services in communities across South Carolina.

For over 100 years, the USCRI has advanced the rights and lives of those who have lost or left their homes. They believe we have a shared responsibility to clear obstacles and uncover opportunities for people everywhere. They achieve these goals by providing support to refugees, immigrants, unaccompanied migrating children, and victims of human trafficking.

USCRI administers the Trafficking Victim Assistance Program (TVAP) for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' (HHS) Office on Trafficking in Persons (OTIP) through the following grant awards: 90ZV0136, 90ZV0135, 90ZV0137. TVAP helps foreign national survivors of human trafficking achieve HHS certification and provides trauma-informed, person-centered, comprehensive case management services, facilitating timely access to vital services necessary to stabilize and re-establish their ability to live independently.

Services include emergency assistance, safety planning, basic needs (food, clothing), and access to legal services, housing, health, education, language instruction, etc. USCRI oversees the implementation of TVAP program operations and delivery of services working with a network of over 200 sub-recipients nationwide (including the five U.S. territories of Guam, American Samoa, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and U.S. Virgin Islands). USCRI supports TVAP service providers with ongoing training and technical assistance to equip them with the skills, resources, and tools needed to provide the highest quality of services.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force has engaged with Shared Hope International throughout the years, namely through members attending the annual conference focused on issues related to juvenile sex trafficking. In 2019-2020, the relationship between the Task Force and Shared Hope grew and strengthened as a result of combined efforts.

RESEARCH TO ACTION

In 2019, Shared Hope International extended an invitation to the Coordinator of the State Task Force to attend a convening of national experts working in the anti-human trafficking movement. The first Research to Action meeting was held in Phoenix, Arizona in April 2019. Stakeholders discussed obstacles and best practices in providing services to victims and survivors. There were breakout sessions based on fields of expertise and the event ended with the reconvening of the larger group.

Following this convening, Shared Hope conducted a nationwide survey seeking a broad range of perspectives on issues in the anti-human trafficking field, including the implementation of laws focused on minor sex trafficking. There were over 200 responses to their survey. Shared Hope utilized the responses from the national outreach, along with input in Research to Action meetings, to develop a new legislative framework for grading state legislation.

Stakeholders were again invited to attend the follow-up Research to Action meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio in October of 2019. The Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force was asked to present on a panel at the event. The panel focused on the diversity of approaches taken by states and identifying potential solutions and steps in meeting the challenges of connecting youth to appropriate services.

As a final step in developing the new Report Cards on Child & Youth Sex Trafficking Legislative Framework, Research to Action stakeholders were consulted to review and provide feedback on the draft framework.

REPORT CARDS ON CHILD & YOUTH SEX TRAFFICKING: ADVANCED LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

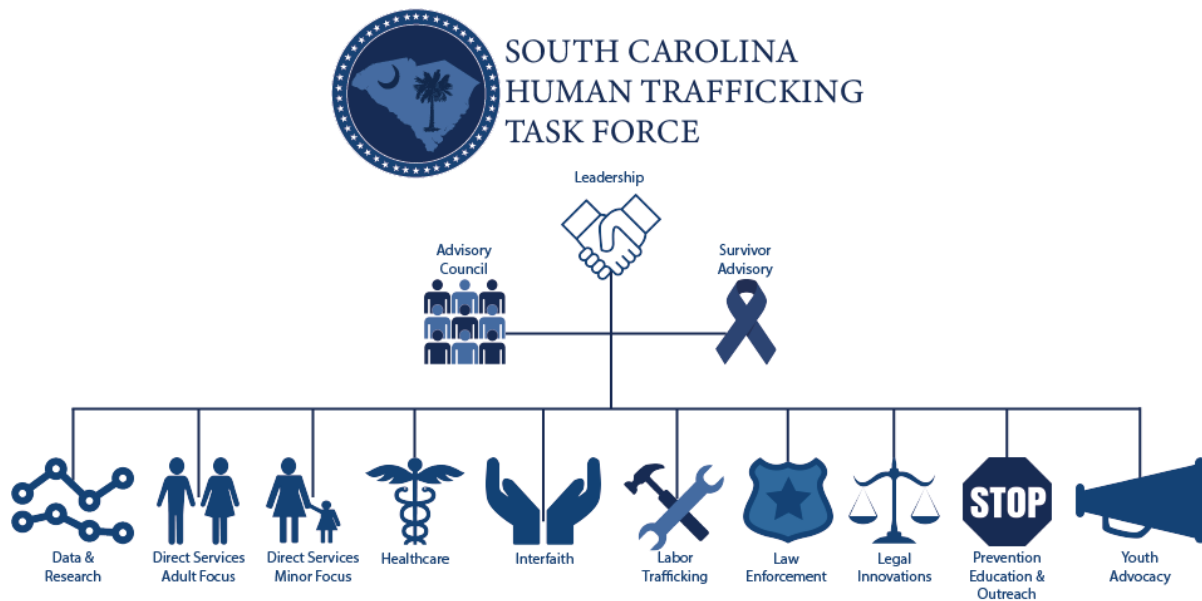

Shared Hope International did not review each state's legislation and give report cards in 2020. After the aforementioned meetings with national experts, nationwide outreach via a survey, and review by stakeholders, Shared Hope released the new Report Card on Child & Youth Sex Trafficking Legislative Framework in November of 2020.

The new framework analyzes 40 legal components for each state and the District of Columbia and groups the laws into the following policy areas:

- Criminal Provisions
- Identification of and Response to Victims
- Continuum of Care
- Access to Justice for Trafficking Survivors
- Tools for a Victim-Centered Criminal Justice Response
- Prevention and Training

The new criteria for grading states will be implemented in the fall of 2021.

XI. State Task Force Subcommittees

RESTRUCTURING OF SUBCOMMITTEES

In 2020, the State Task Force began modifications to existing subcommittee structures and goals to align with the new Strategic Response Model. The model will help ensure that state-level efforts are best coordinated to benefit the multiple sectors working to prevent and respond to human trafficking in South Carolina. Some of the subcommittees were more heavily adjusted to provide greater logistical oversight within their professional specialty areas. The restructuring will allow for the aforementioned logistical oversight, but also position more service providers throughout the state with an opportunity to build stronger networks and share resources.

There are three subcommittees that are still in the process of restructuring with partial new member recruitment and goal setting. We hope to have these subcommittees finalized in their composition in early 2021. This will allow for increased efforts within the areas of focus.

LEADERSHIP

Mission: The Leadership Committee positions the State Task Force subcommittee and regional task force leaders to unite in an effort to prioritize initiatives, support legislation, and discuss other relevant topics that impact the larger anti-human trafficking movement in South Carolina.

Number of Members and Organizations: The Leadership Subcommittee is composed of the chairs of the 12 State Task Force subcommittees as well as the chairs of the nine regional task forces.

Subcommittee Chairperson (s) and Contact Information:

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020:
In 2020, many professionals in the anti-human trafficking movement were able to transition to either remote work or stricter policies within their organizations. The oddity of the new landscape provided opportunities for unique forms of communication as well as discussions about needed modifications to existing subcommittees. Regional task forces focused on the needs of their members and shared ideas as to how the State Task Force could support effort within their communities. Many of the new forms of communication resulted in improvements that will better equip leaders across the state as they continue their efforts to combat human trafficking and provide needed services to victims and survivors.
Please describe any challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020:
The most obvious challenge faced by the Leadership Subcommittee was the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. Shortly after the March 2020 Task Force meeting, many faced unexpected challenges in adapting to the circumstances. The majority of leaders in the subcommittees are employed in direct services, including victim services and law enforcement. These professionals faced numerous challenges within their professional fields in light of factors resulting from the pandemic's impact.

Please list subcommittee goals for 2021:

The Leadership Subcommittee goals for the coming year include:

- A minimum of two meetings
- Quarterly updates regarding subcommittee and regional efforts
- Input from both subcommittees and regional task forces in terms of community resources and candidates for state level certification.

DATA MANAGEMENT & RESEARCH

Mission: To understand human trafficking victimization and service needs through data and research and to inform prevention, intervention, and policymaking on human trafficking with data and research. This statement is aligned with the purpose of the federal Data Collection Project of the Office on Trafficking in Persons (OTIP).

Number of Members and Organizations: Children’s Law Center (the Center) at the University of South Carolina - School of Law, provided tremendous support to the Subcommittee’s accomplishments in 2020. Special thanks go to the amazing team members at the Center who work diligently on a child sex trafficking grant project to provide law enforcement officers with knowledge and tools in identifying and responding to child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking: Margaret Bodman (Senior Resource Attorney), Mandy Bowman (Children’s Justice Act Coordinator), Sydney Arsenault (Graduate Research Assistant), and Kelley Kilgore (Administrative Assistant).

Subcommittee Chairperson (s) and Contact Information: Liyun Zhang, Ph.D., Research Scientist at the Children's Law Center, University of South Carolina - School of Law; zhang349@mailbox.sc.edu.

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020:

Led by the Chair of the subcommittee/the Research Scientist of the Children’s Law Center at the University of South Carolina School of Law (the Center), the Center was awarded the second year Federal Formula Grant by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, U.S. Department of Justice through the South Carolina Department of Public Safety, Office of High Safety and Justice Program. The purpose of the grant project is to provide law enforcement officers with knowledge and tools to identify and respond to child victims and high-risk children of sex trafficking. In 2020, the major accomplishments of the grant project included:

There is no systematic data collection on child sex trafficking in South Carolina. To quantify the prevalence of child sex trafficking on the local level, the Center worked with local law enforcement agencies to collect and analyze redacted sex trafficking and runaway incident reports from local law enforcement agencies. Characteristics, red flags, and risk factors were identified from the incident reports. Findings were compiled in data reports to share with the agencies to increase their awareness and understanding of child sex trafficking locally.

To build a statewide cross-agency longitudinal dataset on high-risk juveniles of sex trafficking, the Center submitted data applications to the South Carolina Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office (RFA) to create a cross-agency longitudinal cohort on high-risk juveniles of sex trafficking in year one of the grant project. The high-risk juveniles of sex trafficking were defined in the data applications as subjects who were born in the years of 1996, 1997, and 1998 with any charges of truancy, runaway, incorrigible and “prostitutions” with the S.C. Department of Juvenile Justice and an indicated finding of abuse or neglect with the Child Protective Services in the S.C. Department of Social Services. The RFA then linked the cohort data from the S.C. Department of Juvenile Justice and S.C. Department of Social Services to the selected variables from the S.C. Department of Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Services, the S.C. Law Enforcement Division, the S.C. Department of Corrections, and the S.C. Department of Health and Environmental Control. All agencies approved the Center’s data applications. Based on the data received, the Center completed a descriptive analysis. To increase understanding of the prevalence and characteristics of high-risk juveniles locally, the Center is working to format the analytical findings by the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force’s responding regions. Once the analyses and reports on state and regional levels are completed, findings will be distributed more broadly and published on the Center’s website so more local law enforcement officers can obtain data.

In year one, the Center developed two screening tools for law enforcement officers. The first tool was the Child Sex Trafficking Flagging Tool for Law Enforcement that was designed in pocket card format for patrol officers to use. The second tool was the Child Sex Trafficking Identification Tool for Law Enforcement that was designed for investigators to use. In year two, the Center piloted the two tools with local law enforcement agencies and received positive feedback from the officers. In September and early October of 2020, the Center mailed more than 5,000 copies of the finalized pocket cards to 26 law enforcement agencies in the state to help law enforcement officers better identify and respond to juvenile victims and high-risk juveniles of sex trafficking. More tools will be distributed to law enforcement agencies in 2021 accompanied by relevant training.

To develop recommended practices in identifying and responding to child victims and high-risk children of sex trafficking, the Center established the Law Enforcement Child Sex Trafficking Workgroup (the Workgroup) in year one with law enforcement representatives from city, county, state, and federal levels. In year two, the Workgroup developed three additional tools with recommended practices for law enforcement officers to assist in their investigation and collaboration with the local Children's Advocacy Centers (CAC) in child sex trafficking cases.

To develop training on child sex trafficking for law enforcement, in year two, the Center worked with the Workgroup to design a coordinated training curriculum for law enforcement that integrated local data collected, flagging and identification tools developed as well as investigation checklists and practices recommended in the aforementioned activities of the grant project. A total of 7.0 hours of continuing education credit has been approved by the South Carolina Criminal Justice Academy for the training. The first statewide training was conducted online over the course of two days on December 15 and 16, 2020. Part I of the training provided an overview of South Carolina child sex trafficking law, prevalence of child sex trafficking, importance of law enforcement in identifying and responding to child sex trafficking, child victims and children at risk of sex trafficking, trafficker tactics, trauma and the effects on victims of child sex trafficking, and how to collaborate with local children's advocacy centers. Part II introduced tips for interacting with victims of child sex trafficking during investigation, interviewing suspects, internet investigation tools, and evidence collection. The curriculum culminated with the presentation of a South Carolina case. To assist in responding to child sex trafficking, local resources were also addressed. Participants will also receive a Child Sex Trafficking Law Enforcement Tool Kit to help respond to child sex trafficking. The training was well-received by training participants and similar training will be offered again in 2021.

Please describe any challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020:

Due to the pandemic, there were a lack of resources and time to work on the goal to engage stakeholders to collect statewide cross-agency comprehensive human trafficking data.

Please list subcommittee goals for 2021:

- 1) To continue to work towards engaging stakeholders to collect statewide cross-agency comprehensive human trafficking data;
- 2) To continue the grant project on identifying and responding to child victims and high-risk children of sex trafficking in South Carolina.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

1. What would your subcommittee like to see created at the state level to support your subcommittee's efforts?

To continue to prioritize the goal to collect statewide cross-agency comprehensive human trafficking data and continue to engage stakeholders to participate in this effort.

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020:
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• In 2021, the subcommittee was able to begin aligning the new composition with the State Task Force Strategic Response Model. The model required a smaller composition in terms of designated professionals in each of the four areas.• There was an additional member added to the subcommittee to represent the Midlands.

- The subcommittee provided input regarding standards for state-level certification.
- Members mapped next steps in implementing the Strategic Response Model.

Please describe any challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020:

The Direct Service Providers Subcommittee (Adult Focus) is composed of those working in programs that provide services to adult victims and survivors of human trafficking. COVID-19 presented numerous challenges that many needed to navigate for the first time. Additionally, the subcommittee was still reorganizing to align with the new Strategic Response Model when the pandemic began impacting South Carolina.

Please list subcommittee goals for 2021:

- Finalize a survey for survivors gathering feedback regarding program services that provided most helpful and those that were least beneficial to their needs.
- Finalize a list of agencies that provide either specialized or supplemental services to victims and survivors of human trafficking. The list will be comprehensive, but split into the four areas that fall within the Strategic Response Model.
- Establish a stronger referral process within areas and across the state of certified direct service providers (specialized and supplemental).
- Develop training that will be beneficial for those providing direct services as well as other professions that intersect with service providers such as healthcare, law enforcement, and state agencies that provide services to adults.

DIRECT SERVICES—MINOR FOCUS

HEALTHCARE

Mission: The mission of the Healthcare Subcommittee is to increase the opportunity for trafficked persons seeking healthcare in South Carolina to have their trafficking situation recognized, be provided with care and respect, and offered or provided assistance, as legally indicated.

Number of Members and Organizations: The Healthcare Subcommittee has been comprised of 11 members from nine organizations located throughout the state.

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020.
In 2020, the Healthcare Subcommittee had a change in leadership and restructured the format of the subcommittee. The restructuring included the establishment of various work groups according to healthcare discipline, with one member of each work group designated to serve as the group's representative on the Healthcare Subcommittee. This restructuring strives to ensure that the Healthcare Subcommittee is comprised of an interprofessional, multi-disciplinary group that represents the needs and challenges of all healthcare professionals addressing human trafficking within healthcare facilities.
Please describe challenges faced by the subcommittee as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.
The Healthcare Subcommittee's members and partner agencies faced unprecedented demands upon their time due to the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. Such constraints significantly reduced the amount of time that volunteer members had to dedicate toward accomplishing the Healthcare Subcommittee's 2020 goals.

Please describe any additional challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020.

With the restructuring of the Healthcare Subcommittee and the demands placed upon healthcare professionals due to the COVID-19 pandemic, recruitment for the Healthcare Subcommittee work groups has proven to be challenging. However, with the COVID-19 vaccines now in distribution, the Healthcare Subcommittee is hopeful that there will be increased responsiveness toward participation in the coming year.

Please list subcommittee goals for 2021.

The Healthcare Subcommittee goals for 2021 include:

- Recruitment for various work groups to allow for multi-disciplinary representation on the Healthcare Subcommittee.
- Review and refinement of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Response Protocol (Healthcare Protocol) to ensure that it meets all suggested criteria to provide safe, trauma-informed, and survivor-centered care.
- Development of an Implementation Guide to coincide with dissemination of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Response Protocol to all acute healthcare facilities within the state.
- Development of standardized training requirements and materials that will be available to all healthcare professionals within the state.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

1. What would your subcommittee like to see created at the state level to support your subcommittee's efforts?

Access to a Learning Management System (LMS) and the creation of a "Knowledge Repository" where standardized training materials for healthcare professionals could be housed, accessed, and data collected from, would provide us with a huge step forward toward training all healthcare professionals across the state.

INTERFAITH

Mission: The purpose of the Interfaith Subcommittee is to coordinate the efforts of South Carolina’s faith-based organizations within the larger statewide anti-human trafficking movement by partnering with local crime victim services. The Interfaith Subcommittee will assist in developing human trafficking response protocols and trauma-informed practices within houses of worship and will coordinate state and regional anti-human trafficking trainings and awareness efforts with members of the faith community.

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020.
In spite of the pandemic, one of the four Interfaith Quadrant Liaisons and several of the regional human trafficking task force teams were able to establish new Interfaith Subcommittees. The Coastal Region Human Trafficking Task Force had Patty Jackson as their interfaith liaison prior to this year’s initiation of the Interfaith strategy. In the new 2020 Interfaith strategy, Patty was assigned as the first Interfaith Quadrant Liaison for the Pee Dee Quadrant. The Coastal Region Human Trafficking Task Force then interviewed and assigned Pastor Tim McCray and Shelbia Wiley, Minister/Educator and human trafficking survivor, as their

Interfaith Subcommittee Co-Chairs. Together, and individually, with great support from Sherri Smith, the Chair of their task force, they have provided trainings for multiple faith communities initially in-person, and then in a virtual format as the pandemic ended large group in-person trainings.

The Upstate Human Trafficking Task Force officially established Arelis Alcantara as their Interfaith Subcommittee Chair after her multiple years of involvement on the task force as SCVAN's Faith Based Victim Services Assistant Project Director and Community Outreach Coordinator, based in the Upstate.

The Tri-County Human Trafficking Task Force initially added Cindy Mosteller as their Interfaith Subcommittee Chair, and then over the year established three other team members, adjusting responsibilities, as listed in the earlier portion of the report.

Another task force that had already seen the priority of faith leaders engaged with their task force team was the Lowcountry Human Trafficking Task Force. Task force co-chair Sheila Roemeling partnered with Pastors Ki Coleman and Daryl Hunt. Pastor Ki has been involved with Savannah Women Against Human Trafficking and the Savannah Traffick Jam project, held at the Savannah State University this year, which was hosted by The Savannah Interagency Diversity Council. This event gave the public tools to spot the signs of human trafficking in a range of situations and give the public confidence to know who to call. Pastor Coleman was also involved with a project related to helping victims self-identify.

The Foothills Human Trafficking Task Force partnered with the South Carolina Victim Assistance Network's Faith Based Victim Services team to provide a virtual roundtable held in early September. This training helped refresh their team and work in Anderson County with faith and victim service leadership, along with some education and mental health community leaders, too.

The Richland County Anti- Human Trafficking Task Force did a major event in January with Shandon Baptist Church in Northeast Columbia during Human Trafficking Awareness month. This event provided great awareness to the staff and congregation. They also provided several trainings for faith communities prior to the pandemic along with canvassing their community with posters including several faith communities.

Please describe challenges faced by the subcommittee as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The most dramatic challenge faced by a regional subcommittee team as a result of the pandemic happened in the Coastal region when the new Interfaith Team had scheduled a human trafficking awareness training with AME Zion churches, and had an estimated 700 faith leaders and members planning to attend in-person. The event date was right when the decision was made in late March to cap in-person attendance to ten or less people. This group had previously prepared with anti-bacterial stations, spacing of seating, and all the best efforts to make it a safe training event for all, yet the event was cancelled to protect the overall safety and health of everyone. With Zoom technology, many of those leaders have been reached this fall by the task force leadership and will continue to be reached moving forward.

The other more widespread impact was the ending of all faith group gatherings around the country that also impacted our state. Ease of reaching, connecting, training, and supporting faith leaders on human trafficking was removed. The faith leaders themselves were disconnected from new issues within their own communities. Plus, the simple issue of task force teams unable to meet in-person made it difficult until virtual meetings started to effectively plan strategies for the new Interfaith initiative.

Please describe any additional challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020.

Though the media has communicated that people are now safe at home and protected from the pandemic, support and help for human trafficking victims, like programming by schools and houses of worship, is not available. Victims may not be safe in their homes. Efforts were made to encourage faith leaders to call, not email or text their members, and really listen to their needs, and be ready to ask for law enforcement support, if they suspect a member is not safe within their home.

Please list subcommittee goals for 2021.

The following are subject to change based on the evolving nature of the pandemic:

1. Provide a virtual pre-training meeting with all existing and interested Regional and Quadrant Subcommittee Chairs/Co-Chairs/Teams on Friday, January 15th, 2:00-3:00 p.m. (Discussion to also include all Regional Chairs of each task force in this meeting)
2. Provide a virtual training/overview of the Interfaith Strategy for the second year to all human trafficking task force leaders, related agency leadership and faith community leaders, led by Kathryn Moorehead, Megan Rigabar, Roger Acton and several interfaith leaders to be assigned for a panel discussion.
3. Provide a quarterly update Zoom meeting with all Interfaith Subcommittee leadership.
4. Request that each quadrant and regional subcommittee interfaith chair/co-chair email to the state interfaith subcommittee chair a monthly report of activity for their subcommittee in their respective communities.
5. Provide at least one virtual training event per month, by a regional interfaith subcommittee leadership, rotating through each regional task force, with roughly two per region at year's end. (Desired to have in-person trainings, yet dependent on pandemic status and state/community leadership decisions.)
6. Foothills Human Trafficking Task Force: with new rapport with the local Interfaith group developing, there are current plans to establish one of the leaders as the new Interfaith Subcommittee Chair in the first quarter of 2021.
7. Within the 2nd Judicial Circuit Human Trafficking Task Force, Richland County Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force, and new LEMS Regional Task Force, there are plans to establish new Interfaith Subcommittee Chair/Co-Chairs in the first half of 2021.
8. Upstate Human Trafficking Task Force: With continued efforts and hopeful changes in the impact of the pandemic, additional team members will be set up and will engage in outreach using virtual meeting space.

9. In the Coastal, Tri-County and Lowcountry Human Trafficking Task Force regions, creative efforts will continue to be used to partner, train, and reach their faith communities against human trafficking.
10. Opportunity to promote Faith in Action resource from Shared Hope International, through training/virtual events, web support, etc.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

1. What would your subcommittee like to see created at the state level to support your subcommittee's efforts?

- a. A monthly report form for the Quadrant and regional Interfaith Subcommittee Chairs/Co-Chairs to complete and email to State leader.
- b. Access and support for a virtual quarterly update meeting for all Interfaith regional and quadrant leadership, plus regional chair/co-chairs to attend that the state interfaith leader would be responsible for in organizing and leading.
- c. Access to and support in providing monthly virtual training events led by Interfaith subcommittee leadership or outside of the state faith leaders and victim service leadership on human trafficking awareness and response.

LABOR TRAFFICKING

Mission: The purpose of the Labor Trafficking Subcommittee is twofold: to increase attention and collaboration around the issue of labor trafficking and to develop and implement specific strategies to reduce its prevalence.

Number of Members and Organizations: The Labor Trafficking Subcommittee is in the midst of redevelopment and is currently composed of seven members representing six agencies.

Subcommittee Chairperson (s) and Contact Information: Colin Trimble, Department of Labor: Trimble.Colin@dol.gov.

SUBCOMMITTEE EFFORTS

Please list subcommittee accomplishments in 2020.
In 2020, the Task Force relaunched the Labor Trafficking Subcommittee and appointed a new chairperson, Colin Trimble, from the Department of Labor. The subcommittee recruited new members representing a variety of agencies and has scheduled the first subcommittee meeting for January 2021. The Attorney General’s Office also began incorporating labor trafficking content into a variety of trainings, presentations, and meetings to increase focus on the issue.
Please describe challenges faced by the subcommittee as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.
COVID-19 made the recruitment and planning for the relaunch of the Labor Trafficking Subcommittee more difficult. However, planning meetings were adapted to a virtual environment and labor trafficking presentations and trainings were moved online.
Please describe any additional challenges faced by the subcommittee in 2020.
Due to the pandemic, the State Task Force did not have as much time to focus on labor trafficking initiatives as initially anticipated. Key in-person events, such as the Labor Trafficking Roundtable, had to be cancelled and efforts were shifted to aid the pandemic response.
Please list subcommittee goals for 2021.
The Labor Trafficking Subcommittee goals for 2021 include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Continuing recruitment as needed for the subcommittee.• Strengthening the State Task Force strategic response model by identifying point people in each of the quadrants to bolster South Carolina’s capacity to respond to labor trafficking and victim needs.• Create a general public awareness campaign in English & Spanish to define labor trafficking, how to recognize it, and how to appropriately report the crime.• Train key stakeholders who may interact with potential victims of labor trafficking to appropriately identify and meet victims’ needs.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

1. What would your subcommittee like to see created at the state level to support your subcommittee’s efforts?

The subcommittee would like to see further development of the Online Resource Library and other virtual resources to augment the development of labor trafficking awareness materials.

- 2) Continue to assist with building regional task forces and providing law enforcement contacts in areas of the state that are not already covered.
- 3) Assist with the coordination of specialized training for the human trafficking investigative process for law enforcement officers across the state.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

SURVIVOR ADVISORY

Mission: Provide feedback and recommendations on policy and programs intended to combat human trafficking to the SC Human Trafficking Task Force. To ensure survivors have a seat at the table, leading initiatives and making change.

Number of Members and Organizations: Six members and four organizations represented.

Held consistent virtual meetings on a quarterly basis. Began developing recommendations for measurable outcomes and tools to engage survivors in programmatic structure and growth. Launched a survivor peer support platform and engagement tool.
Please describe challenges faced by the subcommittee as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.
COVID-19 made it difficult for us all to meet due to many different circumstances. Some members had to move and relocate.
Please list subcommittee goals for 2021.
We hope to present a tool to organizations to engage survivors in programming and policies. We hope to have a representative from each region as a member. We aim to create more opportunities for survivors to engage in peer support across the state.

SUBCOMMITTEE FEEDBACK

- 1. What would your subcommittee like to see created at the state level to support your subcommittee's efforts?

Funding to compensate survivors for training and consulting.

PREVENTION EDUCATION & OUTREACH

The Prevention Education & Outreach Subcommittee will be composed of co-chairs each responsible for one of the two subcommittee goals. Prevention education will be focused on providing support to educators and working with children and youth. Community members interested in integrating formal anti-human trafficking lessons into their classrooms or other youth serving programs will be provided guidance from members familiar with best practices in the field of education. Public outreach will be primarily focused on supporting efforts at the state and regional level, allowing more localized efforts to be managed by regional task forces. Outreach efforts will include the development of ideas for brochures, posters, and billboards after consulting with specific point people across the state. It will be important that the subcommittee members collaborate across focus areas to ensure communities are adequately supported both within child and youth serving organizations and the population at large.

LEGAL INNOVATIONS

The Legal Innovations Subcommittee has been directly impacted by the restructuring under the Strategic Response Model. The subcommittee will begin meeting in early 2021 with area point people that work directly with victims of human trafficking. Each point person will be the lead for network building within their areas of the state while ensuring diverse representation of professionals within the legal field. Members of the subcommittee will share resources and help the State Task Force identify gaps in services as well as communities that are lacking in access to legal services. As networks are continually strengthened, members of other sectors will know who to contact if they are working with a victim or survivor that needs a referral for legal support. As the State Task Force Online Resource Directory is composed, legal services will be added to highlight potential referral agencies as well as contact people that can help navigate the system within the four areas of the state.

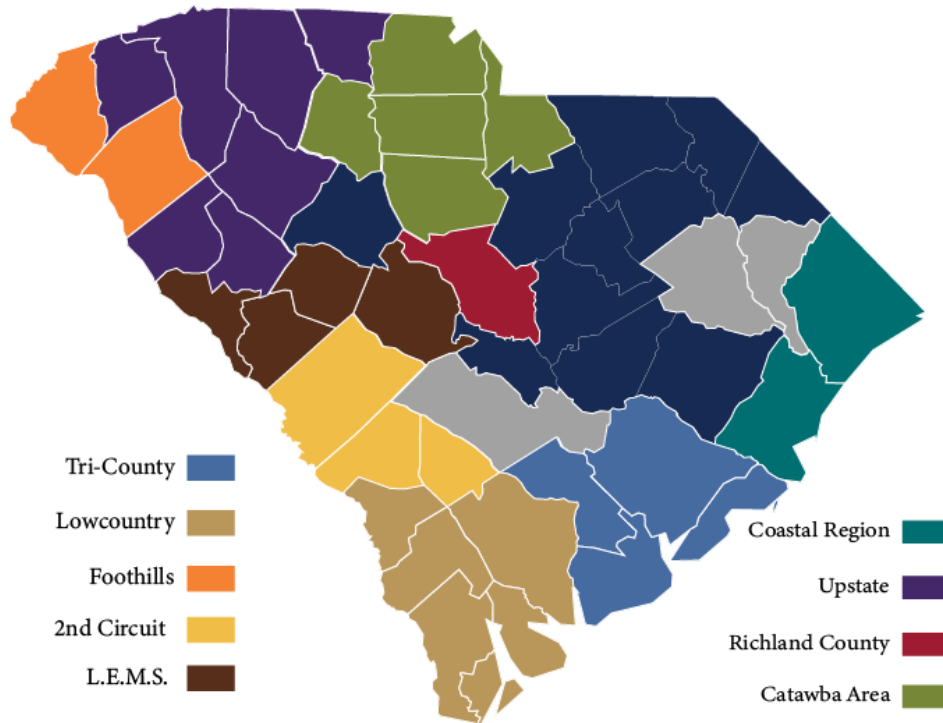

YOUTH ADVOCACY/HIGHER EDUCATION SUBCOMMITTEE

The Youth Advocacy Subcommittee will be replaced with the Higher Education Subcommittee in 2021. The State Task Force recognizes the ongoing need to engage and educate youth on the topic of human trafficking and will continue these efforts under the Prevention Education & Outreach Subcommittee. There has been significant interest to increase efforts within higher education to prevent the crime through awareness campaigns and training opportunities for employees. The transition from Youth Advocacy to Higher Education was stalled in 2020 as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic's impact on campuses across the state. However, efforts must progress forward in 2021 given the increased risks of potential victimization as a byproduct of the pandemic. More information about the transition of this subcommittee and its first initiatives will be shared with Task Force members through quarterly meetings and newsletters.

Held an Awareness Celebration meeting with the task force in January at PRISMA Hospital. We provided breakfast for attendees and asked for feedback from members on what trainings and needs our community has in the fight against human trafficking.
Please describe the Regional Task Force’s response to the COVID-19 pandemic.
We did not meet in April or July but returned to meeting in October with a virtual meeting. It is hard to move the needle forward in some of our goals and initiatives until meetings can come back to a normal rhythm. Our subcommittee leaders are working on their goals with their volunteers and will be presenting those in the January meeting. In addition, our subcommittee chairs are actively recruiting volunteers. We are also exploring avenues to promote education, awareness, and outreach in a safe, sustainable and economical manner for 2021.

Please list Regional Task Force goals for 2021:

REGIONAL TASK FORCE MEETINGS & FEEDBACK

1. Do you anticipate that COVID-19 will continue to impact your region in 2021? If so, how?

6. Additional Information:

The relaunch of this task force in June was successful even though COVID-19 did impact everyone with mobility. We hope as the pandemic decreases in severity, the membership will increase and allow us to continue to achieve task force goals.

XIII. Task Force Member Accomplishments

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General is the lead for the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force. In addition to coordinating these efforts, the office prosecutes human trafficking cases and provides victim advocates on each of the cases. In 2020, Attorney General Alan Wilson and his staff also presented to hundreds of community members on the topics of both sex and labor trafficking.

A statewide collaborative approach is needed to effectively prevent the crime, investigate cases, respond to the needs of victims/survivors, and prosecute human trafficking cases. Members of the State Task Force worked diligently in 2020 which is especially commendable given the complexities many encountered as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. In this section, Task Force member accomplishments and challenges are highlighted in more detail as well as member recommendations.

BON SECOURS ST. FRANCIS HEALTH SYSTEMS (BSSFHS)

Mission Statement: To extend the compassionate ministry of Jesus by improving the health and well-being of our communities and bringing good help to those in need, especially people who are poor, dying, and underserved.

Organizational Overview: BSSFHS has two acute care hospitals in Greenville, as well as ten Urgent Care centers and 57 affiliated physician practices. BSSFHS is part of Bon Secours Mercy Health, one of the largest Catholic healthcare systems, serving seven states and Europe.

Area Served (Statewide or Counties): Greenville County

Contact Information: Jessica Weingartner: 864-608-8342.
1 St. Francis Drive, Greenville, SC 29601

AGENCY EFFORTS

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?

- Medical staff are trained to recognize red flags of potential trafficking situations in patients and respond appropriately.
- Increase community awareness and knowledge about human trafficking by hosting an annual seminar at the Bon Secours Wellness Arena.
- Close partnership with Jasmine Road to provide a residential restoration program for victims of human trafficking, sexual exploitation, and addiction.

Please list agency accomplishments in 2020:

- We were awarded a $100,000 grant from the Bon Secours Mercy Health Foundation to restore a property owned by the health system to be the second restoration home for our community partners, Jasmine Road. We were then able to partner with two other local faith-based organizations to obtain a 2-for-1 match on our initial grant, for a total of $300,000 to cover the entire cost of this renovation project. Once completed, this second home will more than double Jasmine Road's residential capacity. In addition, the property will have two studio apartments for transitional housing for program graduates, and a large workshop space for the residents to expand their social enterprise, which provides additional funding for the program as well as income for the residents. The goal of the program is to foster an environment which will allow full reintegration of people who successfully complete the program back into society.
- We also partnered with Greenlink, Greenville's public transit, on a grant from the FTA to train bus drivers to recognize potential human trafficking situations and increase public awareness. The grant kicked off in September with a rider survey to gauge the public's knowledge about human trafficking. In November, Bon Secours St. Francis participated with Greenlink and other local agencies in two community charrettes to obtain bus rider input and ideas for using the grant money on trainings and bus signage. Jessica Weingartner, Director of Mission, developed a training presentation specifically tailored to human trafficking and public transit. All of Greenlink's bus drivers were trained over the course of six training sessions, presented together with representatives from BSSFHS and other agencies including the Greenville County Sheriff's Office. Finally, a training for the public was held on December 11th in-person at the Greenlink office for customers without access to the internet for online training. The training was also recorded for future use. Additional trainings and awareness events will be held in 2021 for both Greenlink staff and the general public.
- BSSFHS initiated a local forensic nursing program at our Downtown hospital. The program has developed slowly given the COVID-19 pandemic situation, but we plan to continue to grow the program to meet the needs of victims in our community.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

As a result of the limitations on in-person events, we were unable to host what would have been our fourth annual human trafficking seminar in August. Situation permitting, we intend to resume hosting our annual seminar in 2021.

While architectural plans for the renovation of the 2nd restoration home for Jasmine Road were submitted prior the initial shutdown in the Spring, COVID held up the approval of those plans and delayed construction. We expect the renovation to be completed by the end of April 2021.

Please list agency goals for 2021:

- In 2021 we will complete renovation on the second restoration home for Jasmine Road and expand the program to more residents
- We are in the process of applying for an additional $100,000 grant from the Bon Secours Mercy Health Foundation. If awarded, this grant money will be used to integrate Medically Assisted Treatment for substance use disorders into the Jasmine Road program, so that the residents can receive substance abuse treatment within the sanctuary of their residence. By doing this we hope to reduce relapse and recidivism that occurs when survivors are re-recruited into the life by people they meet in external drug rehab programs.
- Pandemic conditions permitting, we plan to resume our annual Seminar on Human Trafficking in-person at the Bon Secours Wellness Arena. In the event that conditions will still not allow us to safely gather in person, we will hold our seminar virtually.
- Continued expansion of the forensic nursing program at our Downtown hospital.

AGENCY EFFORTS

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?

Our work at Disability Rights South Carolina (DRSC) tends to be advocating for appropriate aftercare services for youth who are involved with the juvenile justice system and have severe mental health issues or other disabilities. Phyllis Ross (Advocate) and Alysia English (Advocate) regularly attend Interagency Staffing meetings regarding youth who have been involved in sex trafficking. In these meetings, we advocate for other agencies to divert the youth from being committed to Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ). If the child is committed to DJJ and has severe mental illness or an intellectual disability, we advocate for Department of Mental Health (DMH), Department of Disabilities and Special Needs (DDSN), Department of Social Services (DSS), and other agencies to provide services in the least restrictive environment.

Please list agency accomplishments in 2020:

DRSC's sex trafficking involvement is a new focus for the organization. This effort was spearheaded by Ms. Ross, who noticed a lack of coordination and services for sex trafficking survivors who were involved in the juvenile justice system. Not only has she advocated for other agencies to provide services for sex trafficking survivors, she has also advocated for DRSC to give focus to youth with disabilities who are also involved in sex trafficking. This year, DRSC advocated for services for 17 children who are currently involved in or at-risk of becoming involved in sex trafficking.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

The rise of COVID-19 has changed the ways in which DRSC employees work as well as how we deliver services. From March to August, all DRSC employees worked remotely and connected to clients and each other through conference calls or video conferencing. In August, the choice for employees to return to the office in September was offered, but not required. Beth Franco, DRSC's executive director, released office opening guidelines which were based on OSHA and CDC COVID-19 guidelines and reviewed by our Team Leaders. All employees are required to follow these guidelines to ensure safety of staff and clients in the office. In terms of service delivery and communication with clients and other agencies, most everything is done remotely, either through conference calls or video conferences. If it is necessary to schedule a face-to-face meeting with a client, the meeting must be approved by the employee's supervisor and they are required to follow specific protocols and safety guidelines related to in-person meetings.

Please list agency goals for 2021:

DRSC has many goals for 2021, but sex trafficking falls under the following Protection and Independence Team goals and priorities:
GOAL: Reduce incidents of serious abuse, neglect and exploitation of individuals with disabilities, including inappropriate restraint and seclusion in residential and day program settings.
GOAL: To facilitate the community integration of individuals with disabilities by protecting their rights to receive appropriate supports and services in the most integrated settings.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

1. Do you anticipate that COVID-19 will continue to impact your agency? If so, how?

We predict that COVID-19 will continue to impact the way in which we work and deliver advocacy services. The protocols regarding service delivery will remain the same until further notice. Staff will be required to adhere to the COVID-19 safety guidelines mentioned above. We have also encountered challenges that are exacerbated by COVID-19, including a lack of available services for clients, lengthy waitlists to receive services, children falling through the cracks of the remote learning school-system, and families receiving less support in the community due to social distancing requirements.

2. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force.

Phyllis Ross (Advocate), Alysia English (Advocate), and Abigail Crawford (Advocate) have attended interagency Human Trafficking Work Group meetings which include representatives from DSS, DJJ, and DMH. We are also involved in the State Task Force.

3. Do you have a specific person that represents your agency at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

Phyllis Ross – ross@disabilityrightssc.org
Alysia English – english@disabilityrightssc.org
Abigail Crawford – crawford@disabilityrightssc.org

4. Additional Information:

Phyllis Ross (Advocate) and Alysia English (Advocate) regularly attend Interagency Staffing meetings regarding youth who have been involved in sex trafficking. In these meetings, we advocate for other agencies to divert the child from DJJ. If the child is committed to DJJ and has severe mental illness or an intellectual disability, we advocate for DMH, DDSN, DSS and other agencies to provide services in the least restrictive environment appropriate for the youth.

DRSC has designated personnel for presentations. As of this moment, the presenter has not ventured into the realm of sex trafficking, limiting presentations to generalized advocacy services provided by DRSC.

Held many activities and events in January for Human Trafficking Awareness Month for the community and professionals.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

COVID-19 has definitely put a halt on our efforts with human trafficking this year here at PCAC. We have not been able to:

1. Accompany survivors to the hospitals
2. Attend in-person trainings in other states that would have offered a wealth of knowledge to our staff
3. Educate the community as we did in 2019
4. Educate more students and staff at local schools
5. Attend tabling events
6. Serve walk ins

Please list agency goals for 2021:

1. Attend more trainings or webinars on human trafficking.
2. Get VSP certified for human trafficking.
3. Get into more schools to present on human trafficking.
4. Spread more awareness in Pickens County about human trafficking.
5. Distribute more materials.
6. Educate more parents, guardians, and foster parents.
7. Be better prepared when a human trafficking survivor comes into the ER or office.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

1. Do you anticipate that COVID-19 will continue to impact your agency? If so, how?

Most definitely. I do not see us being able to enter the hospitals any time soon to accompany a survivor. I believe it is going to limit the amount of survivors we hear from on our hotline or see in-person for counseling. We probably will not be allowed back into the schools any time soon to continue our education on healthy relationships and human trafficking. It will definitely limit our in person efforts to educate the community on human trafficking.

2. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force.

RIVERS OF JUSTICE

Mission Statement: To end domestic minor sex trafficking through prevention, education demand and action.

Organizational Overview: Our primary goal is prevention. Everything that we do is geared toward preventing children in the United States from becoming victims of sex trafficking.

Area Served (Statewide or Counties): Upstate of South Carolina and Honduras. For the purposes of this report we will only report on what we do in the Upstate of South Carolina.

Contact Information: P.O. Box 1614, Greenville, SC, 29602

AGENCY EFFORTS

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?
We educate the public (adults and teens) about child sex trafficking. We raise awareness through the following: Billboards strategically placed around the Upstate; hotel and motel outreach; mentor program for at-risk students in the Oconee County school district; distributing state posters to hotels and motels; serving children who at-risk for becoming victims of sex trafficking; and encouraging and empowering people in our communities to work with us to put an end to child trafficking. Since 90% of child trafficking victims have been sexually abused before being trafficked, we provide Darkness to Light training and offer it free to those who work with vulnerable children. It teaches people how to recognize, respond to, and prevent child sex abuse. We also work along with other non-profits on legislation related to human trafficking.
Please list agency accomplishments in 2020:
Due to COVID-19, we were not able to accomplish all of our goals. However, via Zoom and in-person presentations we have educated people in the medical field, foster families, people in churches, and various organizations. We have sponsored 12 billboards across the upstate. In March, the schools were closed to mentors due to COVID-19. We worked with the school district to set up computers in the schools so that the mentors and mentees could meet virtually. Before COVID-19, we distributed about 75 state human trafficking posters in Oconee, Pickens, and Anderson Counties. Before COVID-19, we educated 25 people on child sex abuse using the Darkness to Light Curriculum. We provided two special events for at-risk children: one before COVID-19 and one in December using masks and social distancing.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

It prevented us from doing many of the presentations that were scheduled. It prevented us from doing Darkness to Light training. We had to stop our hotel and motel outreach due to COVID-19. We were unable to do some of the events that we planned for at-risk children. Our mentors were not permitted to go into the schools. A conference that planned for April was postponed.

Please list agency goals for 2021:

- Educate at least 1,000 adults and teens about domestic minor sex trafficking.
- Educate 100 people using the Darkness to Light training materials.
- Visit 150 hotels with information on child sex trafficking which includes talking to the general manager, giving him/her a packet of information on human trafficking, a poster with red flags for their break room and cart tags for housekeeping with red flags to look for. All materials contain the National Human Trafficking Hotline number.
- Add 50 mentors to our mentoring program.
- Provide four special events for at-risk children.
- Place 12 billboards in the Upstate.
- Begin a transition program for children in foster care. This program would begin at age 15 and prepare them for life outside of the foster care system.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

- 1. Do you anticipate that COVID-19 will continue to impact your agency? If so, how?
People are beginning to request more Zoom presentations, but not at the rate that we have seen them request in-person presentations. I believe that if COVID-19 continues, we will see 2021 look similar to 2020.

SOUTH CAROLINA INDIAN AFFAIRS COMMISSION (SCIAC)

Mission Statement: In order to promote the unity of Native American People living in South Carolina; the South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission shall strive to protect our cultures and the environment, advocate for the unique human rights of Native Americans, and preserve the history and heritage of our people.

Organizational Overview: South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission in the early 90's by Chiefs Gilbert Blue [Catawba], Frank Pye [Santee], Harold Hatcher [Waccamaw], Matthew Creel [Edisto], David Locklear [Pee Dee] and Gene Norris [Piedmont American Indian Association/Lower Eastern Cherokee Tribe]. The purpose of the South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission (SCIAC) is to allow South Carolina's State Recognized Tribes complete autonomy in decision making processes that impact them, as there is not a stand-alone commission for Indian Affairs in South Carolina.

The SCIAC sought to unify the state's original historic tribes and welcomed other state recognized tribes as they became organized. The SCIAC worked diligently to pressure the South Carolina state government to officially extend state recognition to these tribes, as well as a myriad of other issues. It continues to further its effort in as many ways as possible to improve the lives of our tribal citizens.

The South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission consists of the following Committees:

- The Council of Chiefs: The Council of Chiefs advocates for State Recognized Tribes in South Carolina and Native American issues in general. Cathy Nelson of Keepers of the Word is the SCIAC seated representative at large on the Council of Chiefs for inter-tribal (Native Americans who are from other tribes but are living in South Carolina) individuals living in South Carolina.
- The Indigenous Women's Alliance of South Carolina: The Indigenous Women's Alliance exists to support and advocate for specific issues affecting Indigenous Women and Families.
- Idle No More South Carolina: Idle No More South Carolina addresses environmental issues, especially those which affect Indigenous Peoples as well as Land Acknowledgment/ Reclamation, Repatriation of Artifacts and Human Remains, Preservation of Sacred Sites, and River Keeper Liaison
- Native American Veterans and Active Duty Association of South Carolina which advocates for the unique concerns of South Carolina's Native American Veterans and active duty personnel.

Projects: The South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission has ongoing projects at any given time. Two of our current major projects are:

- Restorative Justice: The Restorative Justice Program advocates and provides on-site support for incarcerated Native Americans to practice Native American Spirituality while imprisoned, seeks to identify Native American students who may be vulnerable to the school to prison pipeline, and conducts Forgiveness Ceremonies for the previously incarcerated to help with their re-entry into their tribes.
- Spirit of Eagles: The Spirit of Eagles Project is a cancer awareness and prevention initiative under the Mayo Clinic. It serves to increase community-based participatory research opportunities addressing culturally relevant education, training, and research. The long-term goal is to reduce cancer health disparities by maintaining and expanding tribal community networks and coalitions established by the Spirit of Eagles.

Staff: We are an all-volunteer operation with no paid staff or overhead. The SCIAC gives 100% of its proceeds to its programs.

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?
We work to raise awareness regarding Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and closely with those who are working to find a resolution to this epidemic.

Organizational Overview: Zonta of Columbia is affiliated with Zonta International. We offer support, programming and monetary awards to young women in public affairs and in business. We meet monthly for a luncheon to plan events including collaborative efforts to address human trafficking. While we primarily serve the midlands, we do collaborate with other Zonta Clubs in the state (e.g. Myrtle Beach, Hilton Head).

Area Served (Statewide or Counties): Our primary area served is the Midlands region to include Richland, Lexington, Kershaw, Newberry and Fairfield counties.

Contact Information: PO Box 1164 Columbia, SC 29201

AGENCY EFFORTS

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?

Zonta of Columbia provides support, education and financial contributions to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina. We have participated in hanging posters in hotels and other locations as required by law. We attend the State Task Force meetings and attend community awareness events through the Attorney General's Office. We train and educate women at Killingsworth using a program called Enhancing Your Assets, and we also distribute two monetary awards for the Young Women in Public Affairs and the Jane M Klausman award to women in business.

Please list agency accomplishments in 2020:

- We continue to recruit new members of like-minded women and welcomed three new members in 2020.
- Attended Zonta district meetings on Zoom to gather information and resources.
- Participated in Human Trafficking Awareness Day at the Statehouse.
- Awarded the Jane M Klausman Scholarship for Women in Business.
- Held our annual fundraiser, Zonta Zinger, at the Cathy Novinger Girl Scout Leadership Center and featured our scholarship winner's mother as a speaker.
- Presented "Enhancing Your Assets" winter/spring programs in person at Killingsworth Home, and fall programs with USC student nurses on Zoom.
- Partnered with USC anti-human trafficking student organization prior to quarantine.
- Had monthly membership meetings on Zoom.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

Due to COVID-19 we have been unable to host or attend in-person meetings, activities, or events. Zonta conferences were cancelled, including the Zonta International Convention scheduled for July 2020 in Chicago. Two of our members contracted COVID-19, fortunately with mild symptoms. On the local and international level, Zonta has had to make adjustments, be creative and flexible. We will not be able to hold our annual Zonta Zinger in person in March 2021, so we are working on an alternative.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

Goal 1: Recruit additional members

Goal 2: Hold our Zonta Zinger event on March 8th (International Women's Day and Zonta Yellow Rose Day) at the Cathy Novinger Girl Scout Leadership Center. Due to the pandemic, this most likely will not be possible to be an in-person event.

Goal 3: Continue to make additional connections with partners including the Girl Scout Leadership Center, universities, and community stakeholder groups.

Goal 4: Make progress on our four pillars of membership, advocacy, service, and increase community awareness of human trafficking.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your agency? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

The pandemic caused our work schedules to change, our homes became makeshift offices, and most face to face contact with the public all but ceased except for uniformed patrol. Schools were shut down at this time and utilizing online learning platforms. Our School Resource Officers through OJT learned how to investigate crimes against children and were able to work on a large back log of old division cases. Once restrictions were lifted a bit, we resumed in office work and interviews and interrogations. We also saw an increase of online issues with children due to the increase of internet use, online schooling, and limited mobility due to the pandemic.

2. Has your agency implemented new policies/practices as a result of COVID-19? If so, please describe.

Like most agencies, we restrict unnecessary visitors, we only have a 24-hour lobby open (main lobby closed and would normally have a person at desk during normal business hours), and everyone must be screened for symptoms before entering the secure portions of the building.

3. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

4. Additional Information:

We did work several sex trafficking leads throughout the year but could not confirm they were trafficking or did not have the resources/time to continue the investigations.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your agency? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

The use of social media increased and numerous new apps were discovered, creating new challenges in obtaining/preserving evidence. Also restricting in-home visits to only those absolutely necessary was difficult; talking on the phone helps but does not replace in person rapport building.

- 2. Has your agency implemented new policies/practices as a result of COVID-19? If so, please describe.

Utilization or easing of taking reports remotely, which has both positive and negative consequences. People may be inclined to report as it is easier but it is difficult to catch the nuances of an incident when not in person.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Because of COVID-19 we have had to implement new ways of providing services by use of technology and virtual telehealth and advocacy. COVID has also impacted our ability to respond in-person to victims of sex trafficking, sexual assault, and child abuse due to the current restrictions our three-hospital service area has in place in regards to visitors, etc. We have seen a trend in child sex trafficking through the pandemic but not sex trafficking of adults. We feel this is because adults may be in situations where they can't get out of to seek services and support.

2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

In the beginning, we all had to work from home and adjust to a fully virtual work experience. Eventually we were able to return to the office but we still had restrictions in place and were only allowing in those with scheduled appointments or crisis situations. Our current system and restrictions are still in place for social distancing, etc. However, we are seeing more clients in-person than when the pandemic first started.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Not at this time, I feel we will continue to do what we've been doing and following CDC and DHEC guidelines in an effort to keep our staff, volunteers, and clients safe.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Due to COVID-19, our office had to adjust policies regarding client meetings, in-office staffing, and office protocol with regard to health and safety. Despite COVID-19, we were able to hire Pamela Larson as the human trafficking victim rights attorney and she began in August 2020. Even though the first year was intended to be for planning, Pam began seeing clients beginning in late August.

- 2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

Due to COVID-19, some of our staff are working from home; though most of our staff is physically present in our office during the work week. Our protocols were altered to the extent that no clients are allowed in staff office space; rather, clients are only meeting with staff in a conference space. Additionally, we staggered client meetings to reduce the possibility of overlap and avoid unnecessary exposure. Further, upon entry of our building, everyone must wear a facemask and have their temperature checked.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Charleston Pro Bono Legal Services will continue to monitor the COVID-19 trends and adjust services accordingly. As of now, no organizational changes are expected.

4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

- Charleston Pro Bono Legal Services is co-chair of the Tri-County Human Trafficking Task Force Legal Innovations Subcommittee;
- Charleston Pro Bono Legal Services is the Tri-County Human Trafficking Task Force's volunteer panelist on the Charleston County School District's Truancy Board to assist schools with identifying potential minor trafficking victims who are dealing with truancy issues. This partnership is integral to identifying minor victims because one of the key red flags of minor trafficking victims is truancy issues.

5. Do you have a specific person that represents your agency at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 has impacted survivor reporting. Although our caseloads have remained high, services have not slowed down, given the community’s rising crime rates it is apparent that more violence is occurring. Our agency has not seen many setbacks in the face of the pandemic, we have successfully continued providing services to our victims through a variety of technological resources and programs. Although it has been challenging at times and frankly, difficult not being able to have face to face human contact, we have really grown as an agency and have learned to overcome these barriers together.

- 2. How were your organization’s staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

Other than working remote for a short time, and increasing social distancing methods by using programs such as DOXY and Zoom, we did not change very much.

- 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to provide the same services, honoring the CDC’s guidelines.

- 4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

Elizabeth Lemacks: 2nd Judicial Circuit Regional Task Force. In 2021, Elizabeth hopes to join the State Task Force.

5. Do you have a specific person that represents your agency at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

JASMINE ROAD

Mission: Jasmine Road’s mission is to offer women who are trapped in a cycle of sexual exploitation and addiction a path to freedom, a haven for healing, and the opportunity to flourish, leading to generational change and the betterment of our community.

Organizational Overview: Jasmine Road (JR) offers a two-year “housing-first” residential program for adult female survivors of human trafficking, prostitution, and addiction. JR’s mission is to heal, empower, and employ survivors by providing safe housing, time, and space to heal, meaningful employment, and a lifelong community of support. In 2020, JR graduated three residents from the two-year program who are all sober, safely housed, employed, and contributing members of the community. Graduates have become survivor leaders and are employed by JR in the residential program and affiliated social enterprises.

JR partners with many agencies in our community, providing holistic restoration services. This includes comprehensive healthcare, psychiatry, and medication management (Bon Secours St. Francis), clinical mental health counseling (Julie Valentine Center, Compass of Carolina, Canterbury Counseling), dental healthcare (Strausbaugh and Hamrick, DMD), outpatient addiction treatment (Phoenix Center), addiction recovery coaches and support (FAVOR Greenville, Re-gen Grace Church), wellness and exercise opportunities (Caine Halter YMCA, Integrative Yoga Therapy, Women 4 Women) Horticulture Therapy, Music Therapy (Heartstrings), Equine Therapy (Hope Remains Ranch), GED tutoring and classes, employment readiness, financial literacy (United Ministries), continuing education opportunities (Greenville Technical College), and creative outlets in art and theatre (Applied Theatre Center and Triune Mercy Center), sustainable housing partnerships (Grace Church, Homes of Hope).

JR utilizes a coercion resiliency curriculum designed by survivor leaders for survivors exiting trafficking and exploitation (Ending the Game). In 2020, JR launched Jasmine Kitchen, a social enterprise lunch cafe and an apprenticeship program whereby residents learn transferable job skills necessary to sustain independent living. In addition, JR expanded its social enterprises in 2020 by launching a new candle scent and additional social enterprise products as well as an online store. Social enterprises provide a community of support and sustainable employment opportunities in a safe environment for residents and graduates as well as generate revenue to sustain the operations of the nonprofit. JR has received over 120 residential applications since opening in May 2018 and is responding to this need by opening a second home in May 2021. JR, in partnership with Bon Secours St. Francis Health System, will be opening a second residence that will triple residential capacity from five to 15, and also includes two transitional living apartments for graduates.

Area Served: Jasmine Road is located in Greenville County but services the entire state of SC as well as referrals from partner networks throughout the U.S.

Contact Information: PO Box 25452, Greenville, SC, 29616.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 has impacted many operational facets of Jasmine Road. We have implemented new policies within all aspects of the organization due to CDC guidelines. We have had limited work from home options for key staff that are not involved in daily residential operations. We have had an increase in expenses related to cleaning and sanitizing procedures, PPE, online grocery ordering, and innovative social distanced outdoor programming. We adapted the way we do volunteer and community presentations and trainings to mostly online platforms. We had an increase in applications for services in 2020 and clearly traffickers are not taking a break and continuing to exploit vulnerabilities, particularly those created by the pandemic. Also, loss of jobs and increased online presence of victims and traffickers has resulted in an increase in victimization. We have also adapted intake processes, COVID screening applicants before integrating them into community. One of the biggest challenges JR has faced has been the isolation with the pandemic and its effect on our residential community and coming up with creative ways to address the mental health issues related to feeling trapped and isolated. Many addiction recovery meetings have been cancelled or meeting virtually which presents its own set of triggers and challenges. We have increased our in-house recovery meetings and employed peer support specialists to respond to challenging mental health issues.

In addition, our social enterprise café Jasmine Kitchen had to close for six months due to COVID-19 and this impacted our planned business model. Jasmine Enterprises quickly responded by expanding social enterprise products during this time and was able to continue to employ all residents and graduates without them losing wages. The kitchen re-opened in December with a new concept of Box lunch catering, takeout and expanded social enterprise offerings as well as an online store.

2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

Strict protocols have been put in place for responding to residents during COVID-19 as per CDC guidelines. Staff protocols for possible COVID-19 exposure have been put into place as well as quarantine and return-to-work procedures per CDC guidelines. We have worked closely with our HR agency to ensure that all employee guidelines as it relates to the pandemic are strictly followed. Residents in the home have additional requirements for sanitizing common spaces, cooking, cleaning, and living in community during COVID-19 as well as guidelines for interaction outside the community. We have employed Peer Support Staff to provide critical support to residents during nights and weekends and offer more options and access to recovery meetings since many have been cancelled.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to offer best practice, trauma informed services to all residents, applicants, and referrals and will continue to adapt to challenges and protocols put in place by the CDC. We will continue to screen potential residents for COVID-19 before integrating them into the community and work with partner and referring organizations to provide holistic case management services for survivors. We will also be opening a second house in 2021 and this will increase our ability to take more immediate referrals that meet residential criteria. We will also continue to expand service offerings and address the ongoing mental health issues related to the isolation, fear, and uncertainty the pandemic has created.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 caused us to dramatically push back an open date for our residential program as we had to put a freeze on hiring staff for a while. It also caused us to go more digital with our administrative and business platform, both of which have made us much stronger in our operations. We had an increase in calls requesting services for survivors since the beginning of COVID-19, which caused us to put more effort into developing our Survivor Care Program for survivors who will not be a part of our residential Karis Home program. The delay in opening Karis Home, wisdom on how to help protect the health and well-being of our staff and clients, as well as having to shift some of our fundraising efforts have been our biggest challenges due to COVID-19.

2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

Our staffing models have not changed; however, we have implemented safety measures such as wearing face masks, taking temperatures, etc. and established an accountability system.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Very little. We will provide more virtual trainings/presentations and some of our interactions with non-residential survivors will be virtual as well. But we will move forward with our residential program as planned and continue to assist survivors and provide trainings as we can.

4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Our organization is well-versed in accommodating infectious diseases. We altered contact but continued to provide the same level of services for human trafficking victims and survivors in the Peds ED. Clinics at the CACs were closed for a few weeks while accommodations were made to properly distance people.

- 2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

There were alterations in the clinic services that pushed much communication to be virtual. All face-to-face evaluations in the Peds ED at MUSC continued without change except for social distancing requirements. We met all the altered protocols issued by MUSC for protection during contact.

- 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to be on modified services (virtual meetings and such) and policy held distancing until this pandemic is under control. Peds ED services will remain unaltered except for appropriate distancing in the Peds ED, less visitors in rooms, required masks, etc.

- 4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 has impacted our organization by the stay at home orders and social distancing protocols limiting access to full staff services on-site. Additionally, hospital response was also impacted by the pandemic protocols at local hospitals preventing full response services due to the limited amount of visitors a victim can receive while at the emergency room. Training presentations were postponed due to the inability to gather.

2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

The staffing model was a staggered presentation of staff at each site locations that allowed for call-ins, remote sessions/visits, and appointments. The ability to walk-in was limited to protect staff, volunteers, and clients.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to follow the current pandemic protocols as mandated by the CDC and state regulations.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

All the things we normally share with those experiencing domestic violence, like staying connected, avoiding being alone, reaching out for help and other general safety tips are challenging amidst the landscape of COVID-19. Coupled with financial strain, increased stress, and an enormous amount of uncertainty, and it can be a recipe for disaster. Isolation and social distancing may be ideal for preventing COVID-19, but it's also a powerful tactic utilized by abusive partners. It is imperative that we acknowledge the additional layer of complexity that COVID-19 brings in working with victims of domestic violence and take the necessary steps to increase overall safety efforts. At Safe Harbor, we recognize that our services are more important than ever and we are creatively working to meet this need through a variety of platforms.

- Shelter Program: Decreased bed counts. Temporary shelter closure. Integration of a hotel program to meet the needs of victims.
- Across all programs: Utilization of various platforms to meet the needs of clients and ensure adequate service delivery
- Human Trafficking: Overall decline in human trafficking victims serviced

COVID- 19 has changed the landscape of how we provide services.

2. How your organization staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

Advocacy services were offered remotely and various protocols were revamped to meet the unique needs of serving victims of domestic violence during a pandemic.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

As we prepare to enter 2021, it is our intention to continue to offer services virtually and utilize various platforms to safely meet client needs.

4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

We have attended meetings, but no active memberships outside of SCCADVSA affiliation.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Due to COVID-19, SHRCC as well as the area hospitals we serve have temporarily stopped in-person hospital accompaniment for victims. Our available shelter space is limited as we are housing only one individual/family per room and if we exceed this space, we house residents in a hotel. SHRCC has established COVID-19 safety policies procedures and adapts those based on current CDC recommendations. We have very limited in-person contact with clients and most therapy is conducted through teletherapy (doxy.me)

- 2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

SHRCC requires staff and clients to wear masks when in the building. All equipment, door handles, light switches, etc. are cleaned before use by another individual. SHRCC has limited number of staff in each office every day and clients may come to the office by appointment only. Advocacy is provided by phone/computer whenever possible. Staff and residents who believe they have been exposed to COVID-19 quarantine per CDC guidelines. Shelter residents remain on shelter premises during their stay and are asked to only leave for vital appointments/work.

- 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue the same COVID-19 protocols that are in place until the pandemic is under control.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

In terms of direct services, COVID impacted every piece. From being able to meet in person, to having open resources for participants, to not being able to go into partner sites, there were many impacts from COVID that directly impacted the ability to help the women we serve. Survivor classes were impacted as well as therapy for most transitioned to telehealth which was not ideal for many participants who do not have access to technology. Partner sites and resources were closed to outside visitors. We know that we lost contact with some of the women we served with the pandemic as well with all of the uncertainty and stress. In reality COVID has been traumatic in itself and as a result created new traumas for participants that have had so many hard things happen throughout their lives. It is still not clear that we have seen the extent of impact that all of this has had on participants.

- 2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

We had to shift to some working at home for periods of time and finding creative ways to serve our participants while following COVID protocols for a time. However as we have returned to the office to better serve the participants, we have implemented temperature checks, safety masks, social distancing, limited people in office space, etc.

- 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to assess the number of cases and make plans accordingly to follow the CDC's recommendations while working to be trauma informed and serve the participants to the best of our ability.

- 4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

-Zaina Greene, Executive Director, State Task Force and Upstate Human Trafficking Task Force Co-Chair

-Erin Kornahrens, Clinical Director, State Task Force and Upstate Human Trafficking Task Force member

-Carlie Boyd, Prevention Coordinator, State Task Force and Upstate Human Trafficking Task Force member, also on the Upstate Prevention Subcommittee

- 5. Do you have a specific person that represents your agency at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

Zaina Greene, Executive Director

6. Additional Information:

We would also like to include info for our other programs that are doing great work in the fight to end human trafficking in the upstate of South Carolina.

AWARENESS: SWITCH educates community members and agencies on how to recognize red flags for human trafficking, how to report suspected human trafficking cases, and how to respond with appropriate resources to individuals who have experienced sexual exploitation. This year even with COVID-19 there were 54 Awareness Education events.

PREVENTION: SWITCH works with students in middle schools, high schools, SWITCH educates students in middle schools, high schools, church youth groups and at-risk youth centers through our certification in Love146 #NotANumber evidence-based youth prevention curriculum. This year with the challenges of COVID using technology and in person there were 24 Prevention classes taught.

INTERVENTION: SWITCH provides intervention services at several different sites throughout the Upstate. These sites serve those who may be homeless, young people in foster care, at-risk and runaway youth, those who are currently incarcerated, and women in business settings where sexual exploitation is happening. While many sites were closed to outside people during COVID, the Intervention team was still able to serve 141 new women at various partner sites and through technology options in the upstate.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

In comparison to 2019, human trafficking methods and trends have not changed significantly, even due to COVID-19. We have witnessed an increase of cases for foreign national victim-survivors subjected to labor trafficking, however, this increase was mainly due to a newly formed partnership with the U.S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants where the victim-survivors referred are always foreign nationals.

In response to COVID-19, Global Pandemic A21 provided survivors with essential packages that included cleaning supplies, toilet paper, baby wipes, and snacks. Victim-survivors to receive at home activity packages. Victim-survivors were provided a checklist from Caseworkers that included information on Financial, Physical Health, Mental Health, Prevention, Resources for Children, Public Transportation, Hotel or Motel Assistance, Internet, Meals for Kids, Food Pantries and 211 Information regarding COVID-19 if they needed additional resources. Victim-survivors were asked by caseworkers if they needed assistance with payment for internet/Wi-Fi or purchase of tablet or laptop.

- 2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?
When the shelter in place order went into effect, A21 temporarily closed its Freedom Center in Charlotte, NC to prevent the spread of COVID-19. Once staff re-entered the facility, there were several protocols put in place to ensure the safety of survivors and staff. Masks are now worn at all times, handwashing, and hand sanitizer is required when coming into the A21 Freedom Center from outside, temperatures are taken of every individual entering the building, and only one survivor is allowed in the building at a time. Additionally, staff has ensured the placement of their workstations to be six feet apart from one another. For survivor comfort, if they prefer to have meetings virtually, staff will accommodate them as needed.
 - 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.
We believe the policies and protocols A21 has put in place in 2020 will sustain through 2021. We will now be expanding to separate our regional offices and Freedom Center to allow for more space and social distancing between staff.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 is not shutting down the commercial sex industry, it is just adapting and even profiting off of this pandemic. We know traffickers seek out the opportunity to exploit those most vulnerable and certainly won't stop working right now. Victims are more exposed to contracting the virus, less equipped to prevent it, and have less access to healthcare to ensure their recovery. For victims, this can place themselves into a financial crisis; preventing from even having the financial option to leave their traffickers and the inability to support themselves on their own. COVID-19 has not only been difficult on housing options, but the lack of community opportunity has created a mental health crisis amongst participants. That is why we decided to apply for the Homelessness Emergency Solutions Grant and was awarded and accepted into the Low Country Continuum of Care. We plan to use this funding to open an emergency shelter and resource center.

2. How were your organization's staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

We altered protocols to ensure the safety of our participants and staff as health is one of The Formation Project's core values. This included virtual case management, peer support groups, and staff working both remotely and onsite. We have needed to increase staff personnel as we received an increase in referrals and crisis calls.

3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will be increasing our capacity by staffing and we plan to open an emergency shelter and resource shelter in 2021.

4. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

Chair of the State Task Force Survivor Advisory Subcommittee

Co-Chair of Adult Direct Services Subcommittee (Tri-County Task Force)

5. Do you have a specific person that represents your agency at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy changes, observed trends in trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

COVID-19 has restricted our visitor policy, so it has made it easier to assess patients for risks of trafficking. However, those that need an advocate have not been able to have anyone at their bedside due to the risk of COVID-19 exposure. There is a disconnect with a phone call; it would be better to have someone physically present with them during a difficult time.

- 2. How were your organization’s staffing models and protocols altered due to COVID-19?

We are short staffed and exhausted. The sickest patients take priority. Those without training on how to identify victims may miss potential victims coming in.

- 3. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Being vigilant with all patients. We are seeing a rise in human trafficking and domestic violence over past few months and need to question everything.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy/staffing changes, observed trends in child trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Dee Norton experienced a significant increase in referrals to the IMPACT Program during the first few months of the COVID-19 pandemic. Challenges included securing emergency, safe housing due to local domestic violence shelters not accepting new clients, as well as barriers with placing youth at group homes due to virus outbreaks, and youth being released from detention back into their environments where they were at increased risk for being re-victimized. Virtual schooling and attending school from home, perhaps without adequate supervision, has also created new avenues for online exploitation.

- 2. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to organizational policies and/or services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Due to the pandemic, Dee Norton established new procedures and adapted the service delivery model to conduct forensic interview and therapy services virtually. Most staff worked (and continue to work) remotely from home, with in-office work kept to minimum, necessary activities. Additionally, Multidisciplinary Team (MDT) case review staffings continued to be held by virtual platform. Dee Norton follows CDC guidelines for operation during COVID-19. Any future changes to the Dee Norton service delivery in 2021 will be based on CDC guidelines.

- 3. Does your center have a Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Coordinator? If yes, please list his/her contact information. If not, is there a specific person who works with trafficked clients and/or do you plan to hire a CSEC Coordinator in 2021?

Yes: Anna Smalling, LMSW (CSEC Program Coordinator), asmalling@deenortoncenter.org (Desk) 843-723-3600; (Work cell) 843-214-5432

4. What are the most common services provided for victims of human trafficking? For non-emergency services (such as ongoing therapy or case coordination), what is the average timeframe that victims of human trafficking receive such services?

Youth who are referred to the IMPACT program at Dee Norton receive a multitude of services that include intensive case management, forensic interviews, forensic medical exams, mental health assessments and treatment, ongoing case coordination (to include coordination of multidisciplinary team case reviews), and consultation to the parent/legal guardian as well as to outside service providers.

5. What added resources are needed in your community to effectively address issues of child exploitation?

Many youth are placed in specialized psychiatric residential treatment facilities (PRTF) out of state which makes continuity of care (which is imperative for these youth) very difficult. There is a need for a psychiatric residential treatment facility in our region that specializes in providing services to survivors of trafficking.

6. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

Dee Norton Child Advocacy Center co-chairs (with Dorchester Child Advocacy Center) the Child Direct Services Subcommittee for the Tri-County Human Trafficking Task Force.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

- 1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy/staffing changes, observed trends in child trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

At the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in March 2020, our facility completely shut down for several weeks. We slowly reopened providing face-to-face forensic evaluations and virtual counseling sessions via telehealth. In December, due to the rising percent positive cases of COVID-19, we have once again scaled our operations back. Currently we evaluate all referrals to determine the urgency of providing a forensic evaluation, a triage if you will.

- 2. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to organizational policies and/or services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We will continue to monitor and adapt to the pandemic as it unfolds. As previously discussed, we have reduced the number of clients we are seeing in an effort to keep, not only our staff, but any potential clients risk of exposure to a minimum. We are cautiously optimistic that 2021 will bring a reduction in COVID cases and that we will be able to return to full capacity.

- 3. Does your center have a Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Coordinator? If yes, please list his/her contact information. If not, is there a specific person who works with trafficked clients and/or do you plan to hire a CSEC Coordinator in 2021?

No

- 4. What are the most common services provided for victims of human trafficking? For non-emergency services (such as ongoing therapy or case coordination), what is the average timeframe that victims of human trafficking receive such services?

Our services are the same for human trafficking victims as they are for any other form of abuse. We provide a forensic evaluation along with therapy.

- 5. Does your center engage in advocacy work? If so, please describe.

Yes. Our center has victim advocates that work with the client and their family throughout the entire process from initial reporting/disclosure through the court process and beyond.

- 6. What added resources are needed in your community to effectively address issues of child exploitation?

We believe our community, just like all others statewide, are in need of housing for survivors of human trafficking. We have no dedicated facilities operating for this purpose.

- 7. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

L.E.M.S. Regional Human Trafficking Task Force.

- 8. Do you have a specific person that represents your center at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

No

9. Additional Information:

As with any other large-scale victimization of a particular demographic or population of society, the human trafficking pandemic cannot be defeated through law enforcement and criminal prosecutions alone. Although of the utmost importance, these efforts must be partnered with awareness and educational efforts. If we as a society have any glimmer of hope in eradicating human trafficking, we must educate the public and we must begin with our most vulnerable members, our children. We must find a way to get into our schools and daycares with programs designed to educate our children in what to look for as it pertains to human trafficking and, what to do if they see this. Education of potential victims to prevent them from falling prey to traffickers should be our number one goal. To use a phrase that has become prevalent in 2020, the education of these potential victims is our best method to “flatten the curve.”

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy/staffing changes, observed trends in child trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

Our center implemented strategic changes during the onset of COVID-19 that have carried on throughout the entirety of the year. Our normal reception process has been altered to minimize foot traffic within our building and thereby minimize COVID-19 exposure for both our clients and staff. Visitors who enter our building for essential in-person services participate in a COVID health screening, are greeted in their vehicles, and are required to sign a waiver acknowledging our new policies regarding COVID-19 prior to entry. Masks are required in our building for all visitors and staff.

Essential in-person services that still take place in our office include forensic medical exams and forensic interviews. For children ages 8 and above, forensic interviews take place in our center, but with the child and interviewer in separate rooms communicating over our HIPAA compliant online platform. All therapy services have been modified to be offered via tele-health, with consent from clients’ legal guardians.

In addition to the operational adjustments listed above, we also made adjustments to our staffing procedures. In-person multi-disciplinary team staffings were not an option for us after the pandemic onset. Fortunately, despite the pandemic, we were able to maintain all of our scheduled CSEC MDT staffings by quickly shifting to a HIPAA compliant online platform. We also continued to hold urgent staffings through that same online platform.

As COVID-19 has prevented children from attending school and many other community activities, we recognize that they have not had access to the mandated reporters with whom they would normally come in contact. Due to this, we suspect that we may not fully comprehend the impacts of COVID-19 until those activities resume. Additionally, the increase in distance learning and diminished amount of in-person activities have increased children's already high involvement in online platforms. This increased virtual access to minors may result in an increase in online exploitation compared to years past. As a result of the pandemic, we have also experienced challenges regarding funding. This is in connection to the financial strain of 2020 as well as the cancellation or modification of our traditional fundraising and awareness events.

2. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to organizational policies and/or services in 2021? If so, please describe.

Our therapists will continue seeing clients via tele-health as needed until it is deemed safe to adjust to meeting in person once again. We will continue holding our multi-disciplinary team staffings virtually, and continue following all aforementioned protocols to minimize exposure within our office building. We will adjust our model as needed to provide services in the safest way possible according to the current health climate.

3. Does your center have a Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Coordinator? If yes, please list his/her contact information. If not, is there a specific person who works with trafficked clients and/or do you plan to hire a CSEC Coordinator in 2021?

Yes: Nicole Hoffman, Office: (843) 875-8551 | Cell: (843) 991-5731
nhoffman@dorchesterccac.org

4. What are the most common services provided for victims of human trafficking? For non-emergency services (such as ongoing therapy or case coordination), what is the average time frame that victims of human trafficking receive such services?

Case coordination, forensic medical exams, engagement assessments, forensic interviews, mental health assessments, Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Risk Reduction through Family Therapy and multi-disciplinary team case reviews are the most common services that we provide for victims of human trafficking.

For non-emergency services, case coordination begins immediately and other services like therapy are scheduled promptly once proper consent from a legal guardian is received. For example, if a child needed a mental health assessment, we would first need to obtain consent from the legal guardian for the child to participate in DCAC services and engage in tele-health therapy. This year, it was common for a child to be scheduled for a mental health assessment the week after consents were returned.

5. Does your center engage in advocacy work? If so, please describe.

Dorchester CAC has two full time victim advocates on staff who engage with families that receive services at our center. Our advocates coordinate with these families to determine any additional needs and resources that can be provided. For all cases involving confirmed sex trafficked youth or youth who are high risk for commercial sexual exploitation, our CSEC Program Coordinator assumes the role of victim advocate for those clients. Our CSEC Program Coordinator also engages with both youth and their families to discuss needs, connects them with resources in our community and represents their requests in professional multi-disciplinary team staffings.

6. What added resources are needed in your community to effectively address issues of child exploitation?

Continued training for frontline workers in a variety of fields (law enforcement, DSS, DJJ, medical responders, etc.) is consistently needed to assist in identifying victims and improving our community's understanding of how children and adolescents respond to trauma. Many times these youth are misidentified as incorrigible, problem children or even "child prostitutes." These misconceptions from within our own system are by far the largest hurdle to providing efficient, effective services for human trafficking victims.

7. Please list membership in the State Task Force and/or a Regional Task Force:

- Member of South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force
- Co-Chair of Child Direct Services Subcommittee for Tri-County Human Trafficking Task Force

8. Do you have a specific person that represents your center at State Task Force meetings? If so, please list their name and contact info.

FEEDBACK AND OTHER INFORMATION

1. How has COVID-19 impacted your organization? Please describe any relevant policy/staffing changes, observed trends in child trafficking victimization, and challenges your organization has faced as a result of the pandemic.

We closed our emergency domestic violence shelter on April 1 and moved shelter clients to motels. We moved staff to virtual work in mid-March. We only did forensic interviews (in person) on an emergency basis in April and May. We have not seen changes related to trafficking victims but have seen a 30% increase in domestic violence victims needing housing. Our Forensic Interviews and child therapy clients have remained on par with 2019. Our transitional housing program grew tremendously in 2020.

2. In response to the ongoing pandemic, will your organization implement any changes to organizational policies and/or services in 2021? If so, please describe.

We remain in remote working mode, with staff going into our offices on an as-needed basis. Therapy remains remote for the most part. We are continuing to analyze our shelter program and do not plan to re-open it at this point. We will continue to offer virtual therapy as an option.

3. Does your center have a Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Coordinator? If yes, please list his/her contact information. If not, is there a specific person who works with trafficked clients and/or do you plan to hire a CSEC Coordinator in 2021?

We do not have a coordinator. Melody Hernandez is our point person.

4. What are the most common services provided for victims of human trafficking? For non-emergency services (such as ongoing therapy or case coordination), what is the average timeframe that victims of human trafficking receive such services?

The SCDSS has implemented the federal law and definition of human trafficking into its policy and procedures. SCDSS created several processes to monitor children and youth entering and exiting foster care, involved in other program services such as Investigations or Family Preservations, and data reporting.
Please list any 2020 agency accomplishments related to human trafficking:
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Re-publication of the Child Trafficking Policy to extend beyond sex trafficking and include labor trafficking, establishing standard operating procedures in a work-aid, and expanding our screening tool to include risk factors of labor trafficking.• Creation of a systemic approach to tracking child trafficking data from point of entry at intake and following case through specific program areas and exit from the system.• Implementing support structures for frontline child welfare staff the county, regional, and state levels to assist with establishing safety, permanence, and well-being for this complex cases.• Developing a comprehensive five-module compulsory training for child welfare staff to complete over an extended time frame.

SOUTH CAROLINA OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, CRIME VICTIM SERVICES DIVISION

Mission Statement: Support to victims of crime service providers and the provision of direct services to victims.

Organizational Overview: Within the Division—Department of Crime Victim Services Training, Provider Certification and Statistical Analysis; Department of Crime Victim Compensation; Department of Crime Victim Assistance Grants; Department of Crime Victim Ombudsman

Area Served (Statewide or Counties): Statewide

Contact Information: Burke Fitzpatrick, Director: BFitzpatrick@scag.gov
Division Address: 1201 Pendleton St., 4th Floor, Columbia, SC 29201

AGENCY EFFORTS

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?
The Department of Crime Victim Services Training, Provider Certification, and Statistical Analysis (CVST) continues to issue and monitor certification for human trafficking specialized victim service providers (VSP-HT). CVST continues to provide training and consultation upon request. The Department of Crime Victim Assistance Grants (DCVAG) administers the federal Victims of Crime Act and Violence Against Women Act programs as well as the State Victims Assistance Program. Subgrants can be awarded from these programs to address anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina (see below).
Please list any 2020 agency accomplishments related to human trafficking:
CVST collaborated with the State Task Force coordinator to ensure core training for VSP-HT could be available in a virtual format to meet the need during the COVID-19 pandemic. DCVAG funds 140 subgrants throughout the state to direct service providers. This includes domestic violence shelters and other agencies (e.g., Child Advocacy Centers) who include victims of human trafficking as part of their client population. Two direct examples are: (1) Doors to Freedom - This is a residential home specifically for minor survivors of human trafficking and, (2) a South Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault project which funds a Language Access and Trafficking Survivor Coordinator who has several roles but works mainly to address the systemic barriers impacting survivors of domestic and sexual violence who have limited English proficiency. The coordinator also develops and present trainings on human trafficking.

Please describe the effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on your agency.

COVID-19 has required that most staff telework with only a minimal number of staff coming into the office as required. The effect of this has been to slow productivity, particularly in the area of crime victim compensation as measured by days to process claims. We are also unable to provide in-person grant monitoring and technical assistance to subgrantees but this has resulted in only minimal administrative impairment.

Please list 2021 agency goals related to human trafficking:

CVST anticipates that trainings will continue to primarily be conducted virtually in 2021. CVST will work with agencies to ensure Victim Service Provider—Human Trafficking credit can be attained in a virtual setting.

The Department of Crime Victim Assistance Grants awarded 140 one-year grants which commenced October 1, 2020 totaling approximately $36 million. Most of these projects include, but are not exclusively targeted toward, human trafficking victims and survivors. The department will release another solicitation for grant funded projects in February 2021 and anticipates making new awards October 1, 2021.

REFLECTION AND CONTACT INFORMATION

1. Do you anticipate that COVID-19 will continue to impact your agency in 2021? If so, how?

We anticipate that most staff will continue to work remotely into 2021 and until instructed otherwise. This will continue to hamper effectiveness and productivity, particularly in the area of crime victim compensation. Further, we expect to have to continue to rely on desk monitoring of our subgrantees for both financial and programmatic accountability, which is less than ideal from a supervisory and technical assistance perspective. We do not expect the Department of the Crime Victim Ombudsman to be significantly impacted during 2021 although case closure rates are expected to be less than pre-COVID rates. Concerning CVST, we anticipate that trainings will continue to primarily be conducted virtually in 2021. CVST will work with agencies to ensure VSP credit can be attained in a virtual setting.

XIV: 2021 Human Trafficking Task Force Recommendations

DETERMINING THE MAGNITUDE OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

RECOMMENDATION

There have been efforts by state agencies serving children and adolescents to collect more data that can better inform the human trafficking landscape in South Carolina. However, we lack comprehensive data specifically focused on adult victims, the homeless population, the aging population, and other vulnerable individuals. The Task Force hopes to also gather better data regarding labor trafficking in South Carolina. The State Task Force will continue efforts to encourage state agencies to align their data elements while collecting data within their programs. Furthermore, the Data Management and Research Committee will continue efforts to develop a more sophisticated data collection system.

PROTECTING, SUPPORTING, AND SERVING VICTIMS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.

RECOMMENDATION

Efforts will continue in South Carolina to better inform first responders, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups. The State Task Force will offer additional trainings in 2021 for multiple sectors while highlighting issues at the intersection of different professions. Many of the trainings will likely need to be held via virtual platforms given considerations around COVID-19 safety measures. While this may be less than ideal in some situations, it will position those in more rural areas and with less resources to attend trainings with more ease.

- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2021, the State Task Force will continue efforts to identify funding opportunities for direct service providers. It is likely this will be achieved through notification to Task Force members regarding state and federal grants aimed at increasing human trafficking victim/survivor access to needed services. The Task Force will also share any additional funding opportunities for service providers that may arise in the coming year.

RECOMMENDATION

- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.

RECOMMENDATION

Lack of human trafficking specific shelter space continues to be a problem in South Carolina. The Task Force will continue to support provider efforts to expand existing quality services and encourage those who may be interested in starting specialized programs that meet the state's standards. Increased data efforts will help better inform those who may be interested in providing much-needed services to victims/survivors.

- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2021, the Task Force will create materials for inclusion in the Resource Library currently housed on its website. There will also be efforts to develop a more comprehensive knowledge repository that will include webinars on various topics with one of the recordings focused on benefits specific to non-citizen victims of human trafficking.

- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.

RECOMMENDATION

To better inform victims of the civil relief options available to them, this topic will also be incorporated into the current Resource Library and future knowledge repository. The Legal Innovations Subcommittee should be positioned in 2021 to help in efforts to better inform direct service providers and, ideally, provide such support for trafficked victims.

- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

RECOMMENDATION

As we move into 2021, there are plans to launch the online directory for judges, law enforcement, prosecutors, and others seeking resources for victims. There will also continue to be ongoing communication with the National Human Trafficking Hotline to ensure victims are referred to safe, quality services.

INVESTIGATING AND PROSECUTING HUMAN TRAFFICKERS

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

RECOMMENDATION

A lack of resources is an issue that the State Task Force continues to focus on to better equip those investigating, prosecuting and sentencing human trafficking cases. There will be additional trainings in 2021, increased strategic networking, and other efforts to identify ways to benefit these professionals.

- Finding Two: The lack of information sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

RECOMMENDATION

The State Task Force's Strategic Response Model will continue to be strengthened as we move into 2021. The strategy being implemented should help with network building and strengthening communication between law enforcement and prosecution offices. The continued growth of regional task forces will also contribute to better information sharing.

- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2021, there will be an increased number of trainings for those working within the legal field. The Task Force will offer trainings that include introductions to sex and labor trafficking as well as more advanced opportunities for those who have been working the cases and/or already completed more basic training. The training should help law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges with opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

PREVENTING HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN SOUTH CAROLINA

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.

RECOMMENDATION

As law enforcement and others within the legal field learn more about the changes in legislation and are trained in specific rules and regulations, there should be a continued increase in enforcement of such rules and regulations.

- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

RECOMMENDATION

In 2021, the Task Force will launch a Facts Matter campaign to try to better inform the public. It is critical that accurate information is shared from reliable sources. The State Task Force will also share recommended guidelines for public awareness campaigns and trainings to ensure that those conducting them are mindful of the importance of sourcing reputable sources. This year, we hope to launch a knowledge repository that will include additional webinars, brochures, and other useful information for members and community advocates.

OTHER AREAS FOR CONSIDERATION AND STUDY

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.

RECOMMENDATION

The Task Force will continue to be mindful of how immigration laws affect victims of human trafficking and work to inform members of such information.

- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Strategic Response Model, coupled with increased regional task forces, will better prepare communities to respond in a coordinated, well-informed fashion.

- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The State Task Force will stay informed of issues impacting juvenile victims and support legislation that calls for improvements to the system in terms of ensuring their wellbeing and potential need for restorative care.

- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The State Task Force will continue to manage tips from the National Human Trafficking Task Force. In 2021, leadership will access the current list of tip recipients and include others from the four zones outlined in the Strategic Response Model. Furthermore, The Task Force will engage the subject matter expert on ways to better employ technology in cases. Lastly, there will be continued efforts to better inform communities, specifically young people, of the dangers of the Internet in relation to human trafficking.
